Council OKs auto center funding

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — It won't be downtown, but the Granite City Auto Center may soon be a reality.

Tuesday, the City Council approved an $875,000 funding resolution that is the first step toward building an auto center on Illinois 3 at West Pontoon Road.

Novotny Chevrolet and Koetting Ford are scheduled to begin construction at the new site in April, with completion scheduled for August.

Alan Orbital, economic director for the city, said history shows there are certain decisive moments that forever change the course of history and "this is a turning point for this city. "If we don't act, the auto center will still happen," he said. "But it will be at Interstate 270 and (Illinois) 111 in Pontoon Beach."

Plans for an auto center downtown were approved by the aldermen early this year. Orbital said the downtown committee soon discovered the price, $6 million to $7 million, would be too high and it started looking for a "Plan B." This, he said, is that plan.

Mayor Von Dee-Cruse appointed an Ad Hoc Committee to develop the new plan. From the beginning, Orbital said, it became obvious that all four Granite City dealers would never come to agreement on a plan. Two dealers, he said, wanted to relocate to I-270 and 111.

The loss to the city in sales tax if the dealers were to move, Orbital said, would be so great that an all-out effort to stop any move was required. Getting two dealers to agree, he said, was a beginning.

Orbital said all indications are that the land on Illinois 3 is going to become "hot" commercial property. Even the most conservative estimates, he said, are for major increases in car sales as a result of the move.

The aldermen approved the resolution 12-1, 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney voting no. Fifth Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey was absent.

The resolution approved the purchase of Koetting Ford for $470,000, the purchase of Novotny Chevrolet for $180,000 and the swap of the Novotny property with the Karandjeff family for the land on Illinois 3.

Also approved was the expenditure by the city of $100,000 for a frontage road at the site.

Depot picked as transport center

GRANITE CITY — The Military Traffic Management Command has picked the U.S. Army Charles Melvin Price Center as the site of a processing center for privately owned vehicles of military personnel being assigned to overseas bases.

The military command advised the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association that the new processing center will open Thursday, Dec. 1. The RCGA helped convince the command to process the vehicles in the St. Louis region, an RCGA spokesman said.

"This is the first inland operation of its kind and it has taken a lot of planning and preparation to make it happen," said Capt.

Ron Kilts, a command spokesman based in Falls Church, Va.

About 16,000 vehicles are expected to move through the facility annually. From here, they will be transported to ocean ports by commercial carriers.

NO LINES YET: Dwayne Dickerson, 3 Keith Drive, buys $5 worth of Lotto tickets at J & J Liquor Store, 3112 Maryville Road, on Wednesday night for Saturday night's drawing for an expected $40 million. He did not have to wait in a line, but six Lotto ticket outlets checked Wednesday night expected long lines now through Saturday. At left is Sandy Crippen, an employee of the store.

Lotto fever up for record prize

By Andy Sloring
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Local lottery retailers are bracing themselves for a crush Friday night and Saturday as lottery fever picks up speed in the Quad City area.

Saturday's Lotto drawing may result in an Illinois record prize, Michael Witkowski, a Chicago printer, won $40 million on Sept. 1, 1984.

You could be the next Michael Witkowski.

Unless there's no winner this week, either. The odds of winning the top prize in an Illinois Lotto drawing are 1-in-13-million, according to a recent story in Money magazine.

As of Wednesday morning, the jackpot stood at $35 million. The last time it was that high on a Wednesday was the week Witkowski won it, said (See LOTTO, Page 10A)

Donohoo criticized for alleged snub of blacks

By Scott Cousins

Several black voters from the Madison/Venice area who are supporting Homer Henke, the Republican candidate for Madison County recorder of deeds, are criticizing his Democratic opponent, Dan Donohoo, for allegedly saying he did not need the black voters of Venice and Madison.

But Donohoo said the remarks are nothing more than 11th hour "vicious rumors" intended to scuttle his campaign.

At a press conference Wednesday morning at the Madison County Courthouse, Henke introduced the Rev. John Henry Williams, the black pastor of the New Salem Baptist Church in Venice, and Felicia Jackson of Venice, an employee in the Madison County auditor's office.

According to Jackson, an unidentified county employee had heard Donohoo say he did not need the votes of blacks in Madison and Venice.

Williams said he has also received a number of phone calls about Donohoo's remarks, which allegedly also included the use of the word "nigger" in conversation.

Board reorganizes, ratifies contracts

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — For the first time in 11 weeks, District 9 employees have contracts.

The school board voted unanimously Tuesday night to ratify contracts for the Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 and its Secretary Council.

The board also reorganized for the year, naming Jolene Terrell as president.

"Both sides ratified and it's all signed," Local 743 President Shirley Stoll said, waving a copy of the contract.

The teachers' two-year contract, retroactive to Aug. 15, calls for a 4 percent salary increase for the first semester of the 1988-89 school year and a 2 percent increase for the second semester.

GC soccer Warriors again get post-season trip

EDWARDSVILLE — It's happened again.

The Warrior soccer team will be making its 12th trip to the state soccer tournament in 17 years after a 3-0 win over O'Fallon in the Collinsville Super-Sectional on Tuesday.

Granite City (11-3 on the field, 11-2 with nine forfeit losses due to the teacher strike) got two goals from junior John VanBuren and one from senior Scott Stone to upend the Panthers (15-2-5) at SIUE's Bob Guelker Field.

"This is special because of the uniqueness of our situation this year (the strike)," said Warrior Coach Gene Baker, who will be making his 11th trip to state in his 16 years at Granite City.

The Warriors will face St. Charles (20-4-2) in a state quarterfinal game at 2:30 p.m. Friday at Palatine Fremd High School in the northwest suburbs of Chicago. A victory would put them in a semifinal game at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. The tournament ends with the state title game at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Granite City will be seeking its ninth state title in the 17 years the state soccer tournament has existed. The Warriors won the first tournament in 1972 under Coach John Sellmeyer. Baker arrived the next year when the school was divided into two high schools. Granite City South won state titles from 1976-80 and in 1982, with appearances at state also in 1973 and 1975.

After the district was merged back into one high school, the Warriors made it to state in 1983 and then won it all again last year.

70 children at 'Creepy Capers'

GRANITE CITY — More than 70 children in grades kindergarten through third attended the "Creepy Capers" Halloween program, sponsored Oct. 27 by the Granite City Park District. The event was held at Cooledge Junior High School, with magician John Apperson providing feats of magic. Treats were provided by the Granite City Fire Department and park district after the costume judging. Award winners in the three costume categories were: Ugliest costume — Katie Serano, first; Jodi Hubbard, second; Shane Pieper, third; and Eric Adams, fourth. Most original costume — Sara Fielding, first; Heather Coats, second; Christopher Cobb, third; and Ian Kessel, fourth. Prettiest costume — Tami Creek, first; Angela Willis, second; Andrea Stovall, third; and Amanda Mendoza, fourth.

Walks, tree limbs, fire truck, street occupy Venice council

By Mary Henderson
 Correspondent

VENICE — The City Council has discussed passage of an ordinance allowing the pouring of concrete sidewalks. State law says that before a concrete walk can be poured, the council must pass an ordinance allowing it, officials were told.

Alderman John Ervin presented a motion that the city act to solve a tree limb problem, noting there are many limbs in vacant lots and in alleyways. The council also decided there will be another citywide clean-up.

There may be a need for spring and fall clean-up programs each year, a discussion brought out.

Alderman Victor Valentine asked that the council take action to assure the adequacy of fire trucks. He expressed concern that a city pumper truck is malfunctioning.

Valentine stressed the importance of fire protection and recommended that Venice either repair the existing truck or order a new fire truck immediately.

The council was informed by a resident of a problem with bumpy pavement on Bissell Street.

When truck traffic goes along Bissell, large vehicles hit a bump in the street, shaking homes and cracking foundations, it was explained. The council agreed to investigate.

The council approved a permit to allow expansion and renovation of The New Venice Gas and Oil Co. building, which is owned by one of the aldermen, Silver Franklin.

Venice could benefit most from floodgate repairs, aldermen told

By Mary Henderson
 Correspondent

VENICE — The Metro East Sanitary District has won the support of the City Council for its requested tax increase on the Nov. 8 ballot.

The proposal is a key element of a $31 million public works project to remedy flood hazards, stormwater damage and ground-water problems.

Tri Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President R. C. Bush spoke to the council about the proposed project, saying that Venice is scheduled to get three of the pumping stations that are to be installed.

The principal portion of the tax change would only be in effect during a five-year span, Bush said.

Bush assured Mayor Tyrone Echols that should the MESD rate question be approved, hiring for the jobs created would be done according to fair labor practices and standards. He said all contracts would be awarded and supervised by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, with construction hiring coordinated with local labor halls.

Bush said that should the MESD tax fail, Venice would be the community most in danger of flooding. MESD's North Pumping Station, by the old stockyards, is the one in the worst condition, he said.

If gates at the North Pumping Station give way, Venice would be directly affected and could be hardest hit by high water, Bush said, adding: "Venice has cause for true concern, since the gate that blew out two years ago in East St. Louis was newer.

If the area loses its status as a "flood protected area," he said, flood insurance no longer could be obtained.

Banks cannot arrange mortgages in territory classified as flood hazard areas, the aldermen were told. Potential homeowners would either have to pay cash for their homes or buy contracts-for-deed from the present home owners, Bush said.

Not only would home buyers shy away from the area, so would businesses, Bush said, because they also would not be able to get flood insurance.

Mayor Echols said that, although no one wants higher taxes, the alternative for Venice could be far worse. He said the city already faces hard times, and a lack of area business would make the economic situation worse.

Donohoo

 I'm going to be sure black people know about it," Williams said.

Williams said the Democratic Party has been taking advantage of black voters in Venice and Madison by making promises and never delivering.

"They're taking the Venice black vote for granted, and that's a thing of the past," he said.

Black voters in that area are now becoming more independent, he said.

"They feel black voters cannot think for themselves," he said. "That we have to vote straight Democrat."

"We're free and we're going to stay free," he said.

Donohoo was extremely upset about the accusation when contacted Wednesday afternoon.

"These are vicious rumors motivated by politics," Donohoo said. "I judge a person by his character, not the color of his skin. I wouldn't make that kind of statement."

"I need black votes, white votes and any other kind of votes I can get in the county. It's a desperation attempt by my opponent."

Donohoo said it seems ironic that Williams would be supporting a Republican in the election. "The GOP has the worst civil rights record in recent history," he said.

Donohoo said he had met Williams last spring during the primary, when a black citizens group in the Venice area interviewed him as part of the campaign. Williams was not one of the interviewees, however, Donohoo said.

Last week, Williams came to the Press-Record/Journal office to request publication of a letter to the editor advocating support for Henke, as well as support for Thomas Long, a Godfrey GOP candidate for appellate judge. The letter, which was not accepted because it had come in after deadline, contained no references to Donohoo, however.

Donohoo, who is a Wood River accountant, said the whole scenario "is totally uncalled for. My wife is in tears over it. And my kids are old enough to read about it."

SUNDAY MORNING FIRE: Two Mitchell firefighters are engulfed in smoke as they fight a blaze at the home of John E. Chapman, 980 St. Thomas Road, Sunday morning. The department was called out at 1:40 a.m. after a passerby noticed a garage on fire and woke Chapman and his wife, who were asleep. The garage, at right, was destroyed and flames charred boards on the end of the home nearest the detached garage. Extreme heat also broke out two windows of the home. A wood-burning stove in the garage is believed to be the cause of the fire, according to Fire Chief Lee Paul.

Veterans to sell poppies

More than half of the net proceeds received from Buddy Poppies are given to our own community to meet the calls from needy veterans," said Commander Grover Brannam of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7451's plans for the annual sale of Buddy Poppies on Friday, Nov. 4, on the streets of Madison.

The post maintains a relief fund into which is placed all net profits received from the sale. This fund is available to meet the needs of local veterans.

As in previous years, the symbolic flowers of Flanders Field will be sold by a group of volunteer members of the VFW and members of its Ladies Auxiliary.

Brannam said, "Most of the money is utilized locally. The balance is used to help maintain the nationwide rehabilitation service of our organization."

The post recently completed projects on drug abuse, driver safety and hunter safety and will be taking part in a memorial service Nov. 11 on the lawn of the City Hall in Granite City.

Woman driver hurt

Shari M. Watson Polette, 25, 2265 Edison Ave., was injured in a traffic mishap at Delmar Avenue and 24th Street at 11:30 a.m. Oct. 24, when her southbound car and an eastbound auto operated by Donald G. Millsap, 58, 2443 Edison Ave., collided.

Polette was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment. Millsap was ticketed for failing to yield at an intersection.

Video player missing

Principal Gail Eible of Prather Elementary School reported Oct. 24 that a Samsung video player was missing from the school. The theft remains under investigation.

$15,000 tractor gone

A John Deere tractor with a front loader attached, valued at $15,000, was stolen from Ed and Beth's Greenhouse, 2763 Nameoki Drive, it was reported Oct. 24 by the owner, Robert Fetter, 1715 Garfield Ave. The vehicle was parked near the southeast side of the building, he said.

Auto vandalized

A vandal smashed the windshield, left taillight and antenna on the 1978 Lincoln Mark V belonging to Larry Martin, 2255 Lee Ave., parked outside his home, he reported Oct. 24.

On the same date, Martin reported someone got inside the same car while it was parked at Aldi's, 3375 Fehling Road, and broke the steering column.

Electronic gear gone

A burglar kicked in the rear door at the home of Cathy Lynn DeBruce, 2327 E. 25th St., and stole a video cipher valued at $500, a portable AT&T telephone worth $100, a VHS recorder valued at $800, a radar detection device worth $100 and a telephone answering machine valued at $75, she reported Oct. 20.

Several items had been wrapped in a blanket and left on a bed, indicating the intruder may have left the home in a hurry, a report noted.

Dashboard damaged

A burglar entered the locked 1988 pickup truck of Benjamin C. White, 935 Niedringhaus Ave., and damaged the dashboard while attempting to steal an in-dash stereo radio, he reported Oct. 24. The glove compartment also was searched.

Chase ends in ticket

Floyd Leonard Wallace, 43, 1717 Olive St., was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude police and driving while his license was revoked when arrested Oct. 25 at his address.

Wallace also was served an active warrant issued through the Monroe County Sheriff's Office, alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was revoked.

An officer reported seeing Wallace's car, traveling west on Niedringhaus Avenue, allegedly go airborne upon hitting the railroad tracks.

The patrolman activated the squad lights and siren and pursued the auto north on Chestnut Street where it turned into an alley, heading west in the 900 block of Niedringhaus.

The driver turned north on Olive Street and pulled into the driveway at 1717 Olive, where Wallace was arrested.

Probation warrant served

Place, was served an active warrant issued through St. Clair County Sheriff's Office, alleging violation of probation. She was transferred Tuesday to St. Clair County authorities.

Tyler pleaded innocent Monday in the Granite City court to local charges of retail theft and criminal trespass to land in connection with an Oct. 22 incident at K mart, 3655 Nameoki Road.

Envelope, cash missing

An envelope containing $69 was missing from a large, metal night depository box in an office at the Granite City Park District's Ice Rink, an assistant manager reported Oct. 24.

Door frame broken

Nothing was immediately determined to be missing at the home of Angie Clements, 2712 Cayuga St., where a burglar broke the frame on a rear door and reached inside to open a hasp lock, she reported Oct. 24.

Tires missing

Two tires were stolen from a 1977 LTD Ford at McCoy's Auto Sales, 1501 Madison Ave., it was reported Oct. 24.

Motorcyclist injured at 24th and Washington

Granite City — Motorcyclist Debra J. Kuhn, 25, 2320 Edwards St., was released Thursday from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was admitted for treatment of injuries sustained in an accident occurring at 12:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Immediately before the collision, Kuhn was traveling west on Edwards Street and turned south on to Washington Avenue, witnesses said.

The motorcycle then struck the side of a car operated by Raul A. Ybarra, 25, Rural Route 2, Box 712, which was turning from 24th Street on to Washington Avenue.

Kuhn was taken by ambulance to the medical center.

Battery alleged

Norman Todd Fulmer, 18, 1208A Niedringhaus Ave., was booked on a state charge of battery Oct. 24 after Arthur Schreiber of the 2300 block of State Street alleged that Fulmer came up behind him as he was playing ball at 24th and State streets and pushed Schreiber two or three times, calling him a name.

Fulmer also knocked a ball cap from his head and challenged him to fight, Schreiber alleged.

Burglar takes weapons

In a burglary at the home of James M. Hogan and Ronald Davis, 2139 Ohio Ave., the intruder stole a 12 gauge single shot shotgun valued at $1,000, a video cassette recorder worth $300, a 22 caliber Winchester pump action rifle, a 20 gauge Ithaca shotgun, a six-foot ladder valued $30, two hunting bows and a six-inch television worth $80.

Theft from camper

A thief tore the screen on a camper shell of a GMC truck belonging to Thomas Antoff, 2506 Iowa St., and reached inside to steal two rods and reels and a tool box containing assorted tools, he reported Oct. 24. The vehicle was parked at Sports Tap, 935 Niedringhaus Ave., at the time of the theft.

Damage warrant served

Geoffrey G. Chaboude, 20, 2514 W. 24th St., was arrested Oct. 22 at Nevada Avenue and West 23rd Street on an active warrant, alleging failure to appear on a charge of criminal damage to property.

Burglar takes VCR

A video cassette recorder valued at $200 and a VCR tape were taken in a burglary at the home of Ken Har, 2534 Edwards St., where the front door was pried to gain entry.

An inventory of other property was being taken by the owner and an investigation is under way.

Property missing

An employee of American Rent-to-Own, 3670 Nameoki Road, reported Oct. 25 that a former local resident, who reportedly moved to Arkansas, had failed to return a 19-inch color television and a three-piece bridal ring set.

Car stereo stolen

An AM-FM stereo radio valued at $200 was taken in an auto burglary reported Oct. 25 at O.B. Auto Sales, 15th and State streets. The 1979 Pontiac belonged to Glen Lepp, 2208 Washington Ave., a report said.

Weapon stolen from truck

A 12 gauge Remington pump action shotgun in a black leather case, valued at a total of $600, was stolen from the bed of a truck owned by Virgil Mentle, Bakersfield, Calif. The vehicle was parked at 4033 Rode Ave. when the theft occurred. The weapon had been covered with canvas, he reported Oct. 31.

Bicycle gone from school

A 20-inch white and purple Schwinn bicycle valued at $200 was stolen from the bike rack at Frohardt School, 2040 Johnson Road, it was reported Oct. 31 by Kathy M. Fowler, 3116 Rodger Ave.

Pumpkin theft alleged Brian K. Meyer, 21, 547 Chouteau Ave., and Kenneth A. Meyer, 23, Rochester, N.Y., were both charged with theft after allegedly stealing three pumpkins from Schnuck's Super Market, 3401 Nameoki Road, at 3 a.m. Oct. 30.

The pumpkins, valued at $18, were outside the store's front entrance. Brian Meyer was detained until police arrived. Kenneth Meyer and a third man left in a car, a report said.

Kenneth Meyer returned to the scene and was arrested, authorities said. One pumpkin was recovered.

70 cases of wine stolen

John Albert Cowan, Bakersfield, Calif., said his truck was loaded with 70 cases of wine and 45 cases of California wine and 45 cases of assorted wine at 1:15 p.m. Oct. 29. The vehicle, owned by WJ Transport, Fenton, Mo., was parked at the time of the theft. Two cases of wine were recovered by officers at the rear of the 300 block of Weaver.

Purse taken from home

Lisa Stanley, 1116 Market St., reported Oct. 28 that a thief stole a purse from her home. The purse contained $70, a payroll check, a credit card and personal papers.

Burglar gets in window

A burglar climbed through a window at the home of Velda Duckett, 107 Abbott St., and stole a 25-inch color television, a 10-inch black and white television and an AM-FM radio combination, and a stereo with a turntable, she reported Oct. 28.

Madison police

Trespass charge filed

Denise Michelle Delk, 27, St. Louis, was charged with criminal trespass to land when arrested at 2:35 a.m. Oct. 25 at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203. She also was served a St. Clair County warrant and later was released to the custody of a St. Clair County deputy sheriff.

Man allegedly takes car

Barbara McChes of the 2000 block of Edgewood Road reported a male acquaintance came into her home, grabbed her by the arms and pushed her about the residence on Oct. 20. The suspect then went through her purse, took car keys and left in her 1979 Ford, she alleged.

DUIs

Madison files five charges

Keith R. Brown, 34, 4285 East Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged Oct. 17 with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while his license was revoked, driving in the wrong lane, illegal transportation of alcohol and a state charge of resisting arrest. Brown's vehicle was stopped in the 300 block of Madison Avenue after an officer first noticed the car and began following the driver in the 1700 block of Sixth Street. Brown allegedly had an alcoholic beverage in a plastic cup in the car.

At police headquarters, Brown became angry and allegedly threw coins at a police dispatcher and swung his arm at Patrolman Ste-

Workshop burglarized

John D. Woods, 500 Mercedia St., said a burglar entered a workshop inside the apartment building by shattering a window with a brick and stole a .32 caliber rifle, an electric screwdriver, an electric drill and a bicycle. Some of the items were recovered from a shed at the home of a juvenile. The child was questioned by police and released to a parent pending further investigation.

Traffic warrant served

George Wallace Jr., 25, 58 Lee Wright Homes, was arrested on a warrant alleging failure to appear in court on a traffic violation. He posted $65 bail and was released pending a Nov. 18 appearance at the Granite City court.

Television, VCR gone

A 20-inch color television and a video cassette recorder were taken in a burglary at the apartment of Annie Anderson, 43 Venice Homes, reported Oct. 31. The intruder broke a window to gain entry.

Car fire extinguished; seat saturated by fuel

Firefighters extinguishing a fire inside a 1983 Buick, parked at the rear of the Venice Liquor Store, 324 Broadway, at 3 p.m. Oct. 29, found a window of the vehicle had been broken and the rear seat was saturated with gasoline.

Regina-Carter, Brookline, the driver, said she had no idea who would want to burn the car. Captain Henry, Washington Park, owned the vehicle. An investigation is continuing.

1980 class ring in lost

Yvonne Douglas, 1301 rear Klein St., arrived home, heard a noise at the side of her house and found the dwelling had been burglarized Oct. 31.

Immediately determined to be missing were a 1980 class ring from Harris Stowe Teachers College valued at $125 and costume jewelry worth $75. Entry was gained through a window.

Vacant house looted in Venice

VENICE — An unoccupied house at 632 Broadway was looted of most of its furnishings, Lennel Johnson, 1319 Oriole St., reported Oct. 21.

Entry was gained by ripping a screen and lifting out a corner window.

Among the items reported stolen were a three-ton air conditioner, an electric furnace with a heat pump, a foyer light fixture, a 200 amp electric box, two vanities, a light fixture, a medicine cabinet and window screens.

Also gone were carpeting from three bedrooms and the living and dining rooms, storm window glass, and duct work from the furnace. All circuit breakers were taken and wires were cut in a panel box.

Trespassing alleged

Sharon Lamone Goodson, 26, St. Louis, was charged with criminal trespass to land when arrested at 4:45 a.m. Oct. 23 at Gateway Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203. She was released on a notice to appear in the Belleville court Dec. 15.

Gun pointed at student

A 9-year-old boy told a teacher at Harris School that while the child was walking to school, a man driving a black pickup truck pointed a gun at him from the truck on Third Street.

The vehicle drove away, going east on McCambridge Avenue, the child said. The incident is being investigated.

Trespassing charged

Kim Lynn Bartar, 24, East St. Louis, was charged with criminal trespass to land when arrested at 8:20 p.m. Oct. 30 at Gateway Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203. She posted $100 bail pending a Dec. 1 court appearance in Belleville.

Traffic warrant served

A warrant alleging failure to appear on traffic violations was served Oct. 27 on Rory Dale Travis, 26, 2331 E. 23rd St., who was arrested in the 2100 block of Edwardsville Road. The warrant was issued by Fayette County.

Travis was released after posting $152 bail, pending a Nov. 11 appearance at the Vandallia court.

Ill., was arrested at 3:30 a.m. Oct. 30 at Lake Drive and Pontoon Road, Pontoon Beach, charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

He also was booked on charges of speeding, illegal transportation of alcohol and failing to signal when required.

at Cottage Avenue at 1:55 a.m. Oct. 29, a Granite City police officer found a man dressed in a Halloween Dracula costume allegedly asleep in the auto with the engine running.

The patrolman spoke with the driver, Terry L. Rea, 32, 2011 Richmond Ave., who allegedly began driving forward and then stopped the car. The officer reached inside and switched off the engine, he said.

Rea was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. He was released after posting $102 bail and his driver license.

Love in Winter

Couple finds happiness late in life

By Andy Sterling
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — They were married the day after Valentine's Day this year, and the bloom was still fresh on their love as they toasted each other recently with draft beer at the bar of a local tavern.

Her blue eyes twinkled behind her stylish glasses, and she tossed her blonde wavy hair like an ingenue as she gazed at him.

His dark eyes gleamed like black marbles when he talked about her. They shot jealous sparks at the thought of her dancing with another man.

Joe Savala is 74. The former Lois Mathenia is 67.

They met at Serrano's Lounge on 20th Street near Grand Avenue. She was sitting on a stool up front, next to the cigarette machine, under the black velvet bullfight picture.

"I picked her up," Joe said, leering mischievously.

Lady-like, Lois defended her honor. "He did not! The barmaid introduced us."

They saw each other daily.

Three weeks later, he called her up and asked her to come over to his house on Ralph Street.

Already smitten, she was there within minutes. He proposed and they flew to Las Vegas the next day — Valentine's Day.

They were married at the Chapel of the Bells. "Where was your name?" Joan Collins — got married," Lois said.

"There were 16 couples ahead of us on Valentine's Day, so we got married the next day," Joe added.

Joe Savala came to Fairmont City with his parents 72 years ago from his native Mexico.

Years later, he lied about his age and found work at American Zinc, where he worked for 24 years. Subsequently he worked 19 years as a boilermaker at Nooter Corp. in St. Louis.

"I'm an Aztec Indian," Joe said. His creased brown skin and high cheekbones seem to confirm the claim.

Now retired, and a longtime resident of Granite City, Savala is trim, erect and hardy for his age. His thinning gray hair still has some black in it, and he claims he can still chug a beer faster than anybody.

This bureau encountered them in the El Gato tavern, Delmar Avenue at 18th Street, where hulking Curt Mathes, a 275-pound weight lifter, confirmed Savala's prowess as a chugalugger — and as a good fellow.

"Write this down," said the massive Mathes. "Joe's a good man."

Joe's bride has coquettish, theatrical mannerisms — the way she holds her glass and lifts a hand to her hair. During her working years, she designed bridal dresses. Who knows, perhaps it kept her receptive to the idea of romance.

Call theirs a November-December romance if you must, but you can't tell it by the way the couple carries on.

Each day is a new treasure for them to share.

They're both snappy dressers, and they were dressed nicely this day: he in a sweater-vest and natty open-collar striped shirt, she in matching blue sweater and skirt and filigreed white heels.

Not long after they had met, Joe brought Lois into El Gato to show her off.

"He was like a little kid," said barmaid Judy Free. "He said, 'I'm going to the bathroom. You ask her what she thinks of me and you tell me.'"

"I waited for him to get back and then I asked her. She said, 'He's nice. I really like him.'"

"Then he said, 'Well, I think I love her.' She said, 'Well, I love him, too.'"

It's the third marriage for each of them. Joe is once divorced and once widowed.

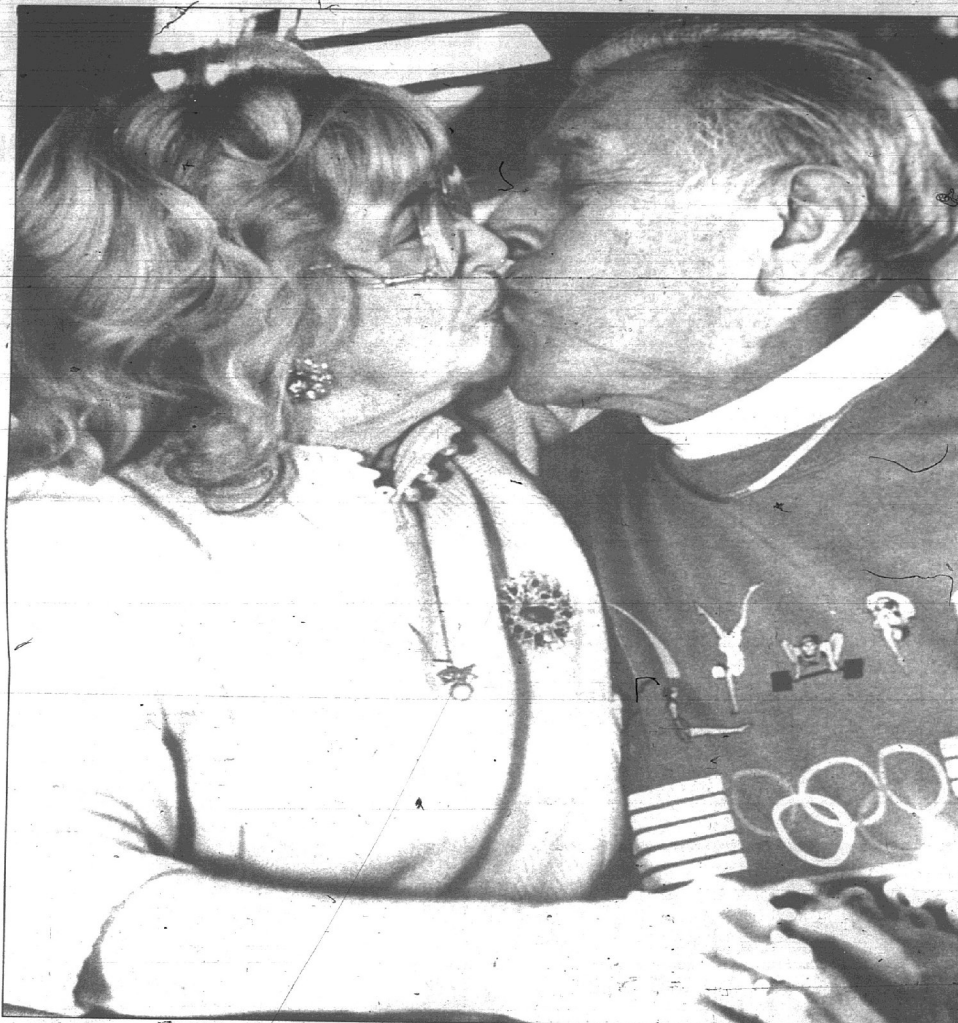

"Both my husbands died," Lois said, the last one 3½ years ago.

"And if Joe runs around on me, he winds up buried in the basement," she said with a laugh and a tart toss of her head.

Then, seriously: "I didn't think I'd ever have another life. He's just wonderful. He says he loved me the first day he ever saw me."

Joe said it was like a thunderbolt. "I didn't want to tell her. This had never happened to me before. It's unbelievable for a man my age."

He said Lois' influence had

brought him out of a downward spiral of heavy drinking into which he had fallen following the death of his wife several years ago.

"Ever since I got married, I don't have to be a drunk anymore."

A ballad came on the jukebox and Joe's longtime buddy, Frankie Rodriguez, asked Lois to dance. Joe started talking a mile a minute to divert her.

"He's jealous!" Rodriguez said. "Can you believe that? A man his age?"

Rodriguez is 70.

Lois said she loved her other husbands, but ... "Joe told me he wished he'd met me 40 years ago, so we could have had lots of little Mexican bambinos."

"They say you only have one true love in your life. If that's true, then he's mine."

The Savalas sold her house and set up house at his, which they recently redecorated. They plan on doing a lot of traveling from now on: Pennsylvania at Thanksgiving and Atlantic City afterward. A trip to Vegas on their first anniversary.

"We've been there three times so far," Joe said. "We're still on our honeymoon. We're both retired and we do our thing."

"We don't worry about our families. They're all grown. We intend to live forever, you know. She's tops."

"Let me tell you one thing — we're the happiest people!"

Eyes locked on one another, they raised their glasses and drank deeply.

Looking back to the beginning

Lost In This Space

By Andy Sterling

Halloween then, now

The crones stood on my porch, their faces wrinkled and horrible. One had long black finger-nails, the other a nose like a sweet potato. They held out their hands, demanding tribute.

What, no trick?

"I can't do a trick with these," said the first, wringing her chipped and broken nails.

"Me, either," said the other, her nose wandering around her face.

Sighing with nostalgia for the days when kids actually performed tricks on Halloween, I gave them each a bite-size tidbit of chocolate and coconut which cost about 22 cents apiece. In my day, you got more than twice as much for a nickel.

Time and inflation have taken their toll on both sides of the Halloween equation. Kids give less, it's true, but they receive less, too. Few do tricks anymore; they don't get full-size candy bars anymore — either unless a lottery winner lives in the neighborhood.

And of course their parents won't let them accept wholesome fruit or home-made cookies and cupcakes, thanks to the poisonings perpetrated by a few insane persons over the last 20 years.

But I had some fun anyway Monday night. I held the line and demanded tricks of some sort. In return I got mostly jokes of the "Why did?" variety.

"Why did the turtle cross the road? To get to the shell station."

I thought I'd share a few of the better ones.

How do ghosts get through keyholes? With skeleton keys! What is a vampire's favorite food? Neckties!

Two girls showed up. One of them had a fine costume — a homemade robot suit fashioned from a cardboard box covered with tin foil. Sure, the coiled leg-gings had collapsed around her ankles, but it was still a great costume. It made me feel good, because it was homemade; so many of the costumes were store-bought.

Her friend's only special costume consisted of a fringed skirt. But she got her revenge on her better-dressed friend. The robot couldn't see her own feet, so her friend had to tell her where the steps were. There were four steps to my porch. "Step, step, step, step," said the guide.

Two girl angels and a boy paratrooper landed on the porch next. The three had the best collection of jokes of all the trick-or-treaters, made all the better because the jokes were moldy with age.

Angel number one: "Why did the skeleton tiptoe through the pharmacy? So he wouldn't wake the sleeping pills."

Angel number two: "What's the biggest pencil in the world? Pencil-vania!"

The paratrooper topped them both: "How do you kill a vampire pig? With a pork-stak!"

A third in a skeleton mask, white gloves and black cape, with a voice of indeterminate sex, was flying solo: "Why wouldn't the skeleton cross the road? No guts!"

I noticed something interesting. I was giving out two brands of candy, Mounds and Fifth Avenue bars. At first I gave each child a choice. They went for the Mounds 100 percent.

"What's a Fifth Avenue?" asked another witch, her rubber mask wrinkling in synthetic distaste.

It didn't take long to figure it out. Mounds advertises on TV; to the best of my knowledge, Fifth Avenue doesn't. TV rules kidworld.

A boy with chubby cheeks came huffing up the steps, treat bag extended. He was got up as a football player, with a bloody bandage on one cheek and lumpy padding that had slipped down around his already ample midsection.

Got a trick, kid? "Uh-uh."

Okay, drop down and gimme 10. Come back next year when you're in shape. Oh, I hear mind. Here, have a Fifth Avenue.

"Fifth Avenue? Yuck!"

One kid — he couldn't have been more than 11 — had a joke he must have got off of cable TV. It was too raw to use here, but it was a joke I had first heard — and repeated — when I was about his age.

I'm sure I wouldn't have told that joke to adults when I was his age. Still, it reminded me that Halloween may have changed a bit, but boys — and girls — are still the same. Boys will still tell dirty jokes, and girls will still play tricks on each other.

All in all, I figured it was worth six bucks' worth of candy to discover that.

'Spooktacular' success tied to contributors

Thanks to the many businesses, organizations and individual contributors, the Chouteau Township "Spooktacular" Halloween party was a howling success, a spokesman said.

The hall was filled with little monsters, waddling animals and outer space creatures. As they entered the hall, they found the lights were dim, spiders hanging from giant webs and oversized monster caricatures lining the walls. A witch served a steaming brew. The children were also served hot dogs, potato chips and hot cookies.

Following a costume contest, youngsters were given a bag of treats and a coloring book. A cartoon was shown and pop-

David and Daisy Ferguson, 2519 Meadowlane Drive, have returned from Murphysboro, Ill., where they visited her father, Joseph H. Ferguson, who had just been released from the Veterans' Hospital in Marion, Ill. They also visited her sister and brother-in-law, Tom and Wanda McDaniel.

Zane Miller flew to California last week to visit relatives. He visited his aunt and uncle, Jane and Milo Taylor, in San Diego, and a cousin, Donna Flanders.

He returned to Lambert St. Louis International Airport in a blinding rain storm, and his airplane had to circle the field for 20 minutes.

Mary Lou Maue and her family are enjoying a two-month visit by her father, Laclede Poole, of Grants Pass, Ore. Mr. Poole is a former Illinoisian who moved to Oregon in 1947.

During Fire Prevention Week, Kindle, a volunteer firefighter with the Roxana Fire Department, gave instructions in fire safety and in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation to all of the fifth-grade students.

Charles D. Meyer Sr. and his wife, Jennifer, 124 Big Four Place, have announced the birth of their second son, born Oct. 11. The infant weighed 7 pounds 14 ounces, and has been named Jaden Lee. Jaden's brother, Charles Douglas Jr., is 3.

Jaden is the 10th grandchild of maternal grandparents, Jerden and Norma Hutchinson, and the second grandchild of paternal grandparents, Charles and Carol Meyers, all of Mitchell.

He also has three great-grandparents: Loyie Hutchinson, Jo Thompson and Dora Meyer.

The Faith Chapel General Baptist Church Ladies met in the home of the Rev. Avery Morris on Oct. 26 for morning Bible study. Yvonne Avery led the study.

Jerden (Jake) and Norma Hutchinson, 501 Margaret Ave., celebrated their 37th wedding anniversary on Oct. 28 with family and friends in Farmington, Mo.

They returned home in time to celebrate at Bonanza Restaurant with a quiet dinner for two.

Mrs. Hutchinson is the former Norma Jackson. The couple has resided in Mitchell for 36 years.

Junior Service eyes fashion at library benefit

The Madison Junior Service Club sponsored a Taste Tease and Fun for All Fashion Show on Oct. 24 at the Madison Recreation Center. The proceeds of the evening were earmarked for the Madison Library.

Library Board members and staff attending were Louise Kern, Georgann Krakowicki, Angela Vavra, Irene Orr, Dorothy Shado and Mary Fields. A prayer was offered by Jackie Snell.

The fashion show commentator was Mary Anna Kaminski dressed in a "jock" dress.

Models were: Charlene Voloski (ballet dress), Jean Kostencenki (breakfast robe), Donna

Hoover (fall ensemble), Karen Kaminski (traveling outfit), Barbara Vrabec (election night dress), Debbie Dillon (Christmas), Diane Rickert (sundress), Toni Shado (dress with 14-carrot belt), June Reynolds (balloon dress), Cara Voloski (bib dress), Donna Woodard (100 percent ebony), Sharon Voloski (handkerchief dress), Jackie Snell (tea dress), DeLoise Rhodes (spring outfit) and Billie Bosworth (modern day bride). Attendance prizes were awarded, with 60 in attendance. One of the recipes prepared was "Polish Mistake" by Turley. Ingredients are: 1 lb. ground chuck, 1 lb. Italian sausage, 1 lb.

Vegeta cheese, 1 tsp. garlic powder, 1 tsp. oregano. Brown meat and drain; add cheese and seasonings. Serve on party rye. It was named "mistake" because Italian sausage was used instead of Polish sausage.

The christening of Anthony

Walker, Madison Middle School clerk.

Attending were: Loma Lassen, Janet Shultz, Sherri Guardiola and Delores Brunic from the Board of Education Office; Patricia Pritchard, Madison Senior High School; Gladys Watts, Blair School; Edna Mae McLinn and Caroline Sandor, retired members; and guest Terri Brunic.

Plans were made for a Christmas Party on Dec. 10. Names were drawn for exchange gifts.

A "grandma" baby shower was held for Delores Brunic. Gifts were presented to her.

The Quilting Club met Oct. 27 at Jerry's Restaurant to celebrate the birthday of Vera Sikora. They returned to her home for an evening of games.

Dessert was served to Mary Domanski, Catherine Orris, Katie Such, Mary Venorsky, Mary Szymec, Mary Ann Bunk and Catherine Measki.

St. Mary-St. Mark's students observed "Red Ribbon Week," sponsored by the National Federation of Parents for a Drug Free Youth and the Drug Free Youth of America.

The children were given a red ribbon-like tag to wear every day for the week to show others that they are committed to a drug free, healthy life style. On Oct. 27, "Wear Red Day" was observed, with each student wearing as much red as possible.

The classes will receive instruction in two programs: "Babes" and "Growing Up Well."

A seventh birthday party was held for Bobbie Dorris on Oct. 30 at McDonald's on Pontoon Road, where lunch was served. Games were played and prizes awarded.

Attending were Frankie Dorris, Linda Dohnal, Matt and Mike Fiedler, Jessica Bathon, Chris Dorris and Cookie Fields. Bobbie is a second-grade student at St. Mary-St. Mark's.

Norma Eaves hosted a birthday dinner for her husband, Frank, on Oct. 31.

Attending were Mike and Carol Eaves; Ed and Mary Livesey; Jeff and Amice Eaves; Swensen, Debbie Eaves and son, Kevin; Elsie Rich, Belleville, Ill.; and Ed and Kathy Dohnal, with Linda.

Stephanie Marie Dohnal was christened Oct. 25 by the Rev. Jim Keefe at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison. Stephanie is the daughter of Steven and Mary (Barrington) Dohnal.

Stephanie was born Sept. 11 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Brian Dohnal and Elizabeth Barrington are the godparents.

Stephanie wore her mother's family christening dress.

Grandparents attending were Joe and Ruth Barrington, Granite City, and Ed and Kathy Dohnal, Madison.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.P. Steinhauer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orris Sr. and Mary Domanski.

There were 45 in attendance.

The Madison Junior Service women spent the weekend of Oct. 14 in Branson, Mo., where they attended the Silver Dollar City Craft Show.

Members and guests stayed at the Golden Arrow Resort.

Members attending were: Sandy Barnett, Debbie Dillon, Jean Kostencenki, Toni Shado, Carla Voloski and Sharon Voloski. Sustaining members attending were Billie Bosworth, Diane Hudzik, Delores Rhoads and Janet Shultz. Guests were Norma Eaves, Sondra Pumphrey and Delores Bosworth.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

If a person is injured on the job, the question often arises as to what type of work injuries qualify for Workers' Compensation benefits. Illinois law requires that the injury "arise out of" and be incurred "in the course of" the employment. This means, generally speaking, that the injury must occur within the employee's work hours and at a place where the employee can reasonably be expected to be found while working.

In one recent case, a woman was employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone Company. At 5:00 p.m., she completed her workday, left the phone center on the second floor of a mail, and used a nearby escalator to go to the first floor. As she walked toward a mail exit on the first floor, her left leg slid on a slippery tile floor, and she fell, injuring her left knee.

The telephone company argued that the employee's injury did not arise out of and in the course of her employment since it occurred off the employer's premises. The employer maintained that its premises, for the purpose of Workers' Compensation benefits, were limited to the space it leased. The phone company felt that the common areas of the mall were the sole responsibility of the landlord.

The employee noted that the phone company was required under its lease to pay a share of the common area maintenance costs. Therefore, she felt that the employer had a duty to ensure that those areas were safe for its employees.

In general, liability under the Workers' Compensation Act is limited to injuries occurring on the employer's premises while the employee is engaged in a work-related activity. There are, however, exceptions to this general rule. For instance, compensation has been allowed where the injury occurs in a public area extremely close to the employer's premises.

In this case, the Appellate Court felt that the employee of the phone company was not engaged in a work-related activity when she injured her knee. Rather, she testified that she had finished her daily work and was simply leaving the mall. Further, she was a considerable distance from her employer's immediate premises. Finally, the Appellate Court noted that she had ten or more routes, to choose from when leaving work. These circumstances indicated that her injury was not compensable under the Act.

Ticket sales in a normal week total $10-12 million. There were $20.7 million in tickets sold that final week in 1984, after three rollovers. Sales this week were almost $29 million as of Wednesday after three rollovers.

Ticket sales are up in the Quad Cities over normal weeks, said local retailers.

At Sullie's Package Liquor, 2200 Washington Ave., manager Rick Lesko said sales are up about 50 percent, though he declined to say what normal sales are. Sullie's has had two Lotto winners and one Cash-5 winner.

At Schermer's Supermarket, 1125 Madison Ave., Madison, Dave Schermer said he expects sales this week to be double those of a normal week. Schermer's daily sells about 6,000 tickets, he said.

Schermer's has never sold a grand prize winning ticket. The state pays retail outlets 1 percent of the total prize on a ticket.

"We're still waiting for ours," Schermer said. One percent this week could be as much as $400,000. Maybe this week?

"This would be a good one," Schermer said.

Nation may be in military rut

To the editor:

An article about the dramatic tragedy at an air show at a U.S. base in Germany, claiming more than 50 lives, contained a paragraph mentioning that citizens in the nearest city had been complaining about air noise and other activities of the American military presence.

Within a day or two of that tragedy, I talked to someone who told me the American military presence in Honduras is hurting the United States in that country and destabilizing that nation.

Another person told me the American air base in Athens not only is the cause of serious complaints; militarily, it doesn't make sense to have an air base within the city limits of a major city.

I recall being stationed in the Army in Germany. Too frequently, our service personnel, lonely and far from home, indulged their loneliness in drinking too much and there were problems in the communities.

As a general rule, it is probably better not to have troops of another nation stationed within a sovereign country.

But that general rule breaks down when there are real security needs.

In South Korea, for example, we have 43,000 troops.

South Korea is much healthier economically than when we got involved in the defense of that country, but the Communist dictator in North Korea, Kim Il Sung, continues to make noises that sound like he might invade South Korea.

I doubt he would, but pulling out American troops might send the wrong signal and destabilize that area, inviting a war.

A re-examination of what commitments we should have does seem in order.

We are now roughly 20 percent of the world's economy, but we have fundamentally the same military commitments we had when we were 40 percent of the world's economy.

It does not make sense that we spend 6.7 percent of our national income on defense, almost half for the defense of Western Europe, while our Western European friends spend about 3.3 percent. That made sense in 1950, but not in 1988.

How can we reduce some of our responsibilities abroad without sending the wrong signal to the Soviets?

That question ought to be part of an overall appraisal that is even more fundamental.

What is the American military mission today? Has it changed as the world has changed? Should it change?

Our mission should include defending our nation and also helping to provide a shield for other nations that might be threatened. How do we most effectively carry that out today?

I hope the next president will immediately appoint a small group, including some key members of Congress, to evaluate where we are and where we should be.

I hear talk about closing some military bases within our country. It is possible that should be done, but it is also possible that those bases should remain open and some forces stationed abroad should be brought back to fill these bases, reducing our presence abroad and at the same time cutting back on our costs and our trade deficit.

Nations get into ruts, just as individuals do.

We're in a military rut, and we should examine carefully how we should change.

Drug problem threatens military reliability

To the editor:

Our government sent in the Army, Navy and Air Force to Grenada to save a group of students from the communist government on that island.

We have an ever-increasing threat to the life of every man, woman and child in the United States and in fact to the entire world from the drug lords in Columbia, Panama and other drug-producing countries.

The drug problem threatens the reliability of our military, our industries, our banking system, our educational system, our law enforcement, our courts and government at every level. It is a total threat worldwide to every country and every government.

If we found it proper and acceptable to use the military forces to save a small group of students in Grenada, who would find it objectionable to use our military forces to rid the world of drug lords who obey no laws of any country?

We are in a losing war with the drug lords and every life is being risked. They do not care who they involve or kill—young or old. It is time that we declared a real war on drugs.

Discrimination in license renewals

To the editor:

The Illinois Department of Professional Regulation requires 33 professions, but only five are required to have continued education to get their license renewed. Why the discrimination?

There is no control as to what the professional must take for CE, just get the hours. For pharmacy, subjects include (1) Use of Vitamins in Geriatrics, (2) Drug Therapy of Arthritis, (3) Appropriate Use of Sedative and Psychotropic Drugs in Long Term Facilities.

The course help you get in CE (continued education) hours. What a ridiculous waste of time and money.

The renewal form also gives you the option of saying you have or have not complied with the CE requirement. Only 10 percent of the renewals are audited. If some wanted to be dishonest, they could say they had complied and hope they would land in the 90 percent not audited.

Most pharmacists (with the exception of a few) spent their years at pharmacy school, and passed state board exams to get their licenses. Many of us spent years in the service of our country.

I personally have practiced my profession for 42 years, with pride, have retired and only work occasionally to give someone relief — only to be told by a bunch of bureaucrats that I can no longer fill a prescription unless I get continuing education.

A doctor, osteopath, dentist or veterinarian can write a prescription and they need no CE. Registered nurses can administer the drug in the hospital, but they require no CE. However, a pharmacist cannot fill the prescription without getting CE. Why the discrimination?

I believe the CE requirement as it now exists should be revoked. A system should be set up that makes all branches of all professions take like courses as stipulated by the U. of I. school of that profession, with no exclusions in audit for license renewals. Make it the same for all professions on CE or have no CE at all for any profession.

Others against high school overpass idea

To the editor:

Julie Marzluf-Guika wrote a letter in the Oct. 6 Press-Record about the pedestrian overpass at the intersection of Nameoki and Jill Avenue. She was strongly opposed to this and urged others to voice their opinion. In the papers since this there has been no response. So we're writing to tell we feel the same way.

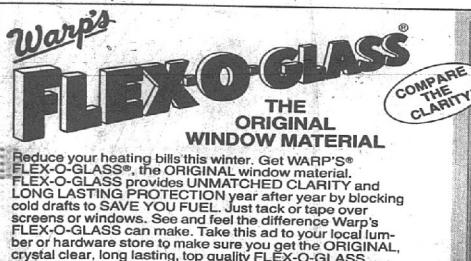

We all attended Granite City High School. Some have sent children, some have children currently attending, and the rest will have children who will be attending in the coming years. Our thoughts on the overpass are these, the same children who do not use crosswalks, crossing guards or the walk light will avoid an overpass as well. After all, it would take more time and steps to walk-up and over rather than run across. Let's not waste money (after all, no matter where it's from, it started out in taxpayers' pockets) on something that will not be used enough to warrant it. We don't want another mistake like the fence on Nameoki Road by Kirkpatrick Homes, where is it now?

It was put in to keep pedestrians from crossing against lights, too. There is a need to make may-be a no left turn situation from Jill Avenue during school hours. This has been done in other communities with success.

Why doesn't someone look into the possibility of expanding the cafeteria facilities? That would be money better spent. Let's think before we spend.

Nov. 8 election endorsements

Following are Nov. 8 general election comments and endorsements by the Press-Record/Journal:

PRESIDENT.
Republican Vice President George Bush has the necessary government experience, including key positions related to foreign affairs and national security.

CONGRESSMAN.
Previously we had recommended his opponent, but Belleville Democrat Jerry Costello has shown since winning the special August election that he can perform well the job of congressman from the 21st District. On the basis of his seniority in the position, his efforts to maintain the Army support center in Granite City, and his experience with transportation and other issues affecting the Metro East region, he makes the best qualified candidate.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE.
Sam W. Wolf, Granite City Democrat, has earned another term due to his strong record of responding to local needs and supporting responsible legislation.

CLERK OF CIRCUIT COURT.
Willard Portell, Collinsville Democrat and an effective administrator, is unopposed for reelection.

RECORDER OF DEEDS.
Daniel R. Donohoe, East Alton Democrat, is recommended due to his accounting and business experience and his service on the Madison County Board.

AUDITOR.
Fred Bathon, Madison Democrat, is endorsed due to his familiarity with the Madison County auditor's office as well as the city treasurer's office in Madison.

STATE'S ATTORNEY.
William R. "Bill" Haine, Alton Democrat and an advocate of improved procedures, is unopposed.

CORONER. Dallas M. Burke, Alton Democrat, highly experienced, is unopposed for reelection.

COUNTY BOARD MEMBERS.
Veteran Democratic incumbents are seeking new board terms without opposition: District 22, Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City; District 23, Don Garrett of Madison; and District 24, Frank Dutko of Madison.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE.
Horace L. Calvo, Glen Carbon Democrat, a former Granite City and a former state representative, is a circuit judge assigned as an appellate judge. His long record of public service should enable him to serve well on the state's highest court.

FOUR APPELLATE COURT JUDGES.
We favor one Republican, Thomas Long of Godfrey, and three Democrats, Charles W. "Bill" Chapman of Edwardsville, Philip J. Rarick of Troy and Robert H. Howerton of Carverville. Long would help provide a degree of political balance on the 5th District appellate bench. Chapman, Rarick and Howerton have served effectively as circuit judges.

TWO CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES.
Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. and Circuit Judge Paul E. Riley, both Edwardsville Democrats, are unopposed for election to judgeships in the 3rd

Circuit.
RETENTION OF CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES.

"Yes" votes are recommended for six circuit judges seeking retention at that level — John L. DeLaurenti (Bond County), Horace L. Calvo (Glen Carbon), Charles W. Chapman (Edwardsville), George J. Moran Jr. (Granite City), Philip J. Rarick (Troy) and P.J. O'Neill (Alton).

COLLEGE TRUSTEE REFERENCE.
We strongly urge that citizens vote "yes" for trustee subdistricts in the Belleville Area College district.

Approval would assure that all areas of the district would have representation on the seven-member board. The present board is composed entirely of St. Clair Countians.

METRO EAST SANITARY DISTRICT TAX RATE QUESTION.
It is vital that voters cast a "Yes" ballot and encourage their friends, neighbors and relatives to do the same. Provision of needed MESD operating and maintenance funds is necessary to obtain an essential $31 million project financed mainly by the federal government.

A specially-formed group, Citizens for Flood Protection, is emphasizing that the program would "protect homes, businesses, schools and communities from the threat of destructive river flooding; provide a deep well and pumping system to lower the water table and keep water from breaking sewer lines and flooding basements; rehabilitate the canal and drainage ditches of our flood plain region to control the flow of surface water; prevent homeowners from losing equity in their homes and from losing mortgage availability; renew the infrastructure to retain and attract businesses and jobs; provide hundreds of construction jobs over a five-year period; and avoid loss of the federal financial help, which was authorized in June but only if the grant is utilized now."

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
This involves calling a convention at which delegates would write a new Illinois Constitution for consideration by voters. The possibility of a convention must be considered every 20 years, under our 1970 Constitution.

We favor holding a limited-cost convention as a way of giving citizens additional powers and of achieving structural and ethical reforms in the state government.

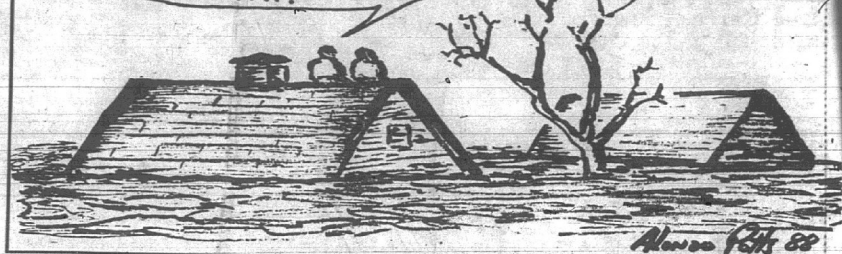

VOTING QUALIFICATIONS.
We favor approving the age of 18 and the 30-day residency requirement. There would be no changes in present rules.

DELINQUENT TAX SALES.
We favor streamlining the sale of certain tax-delinquent real estate. Homes are not affected by the suggested changes.

IMPORTANCE OF VOTING.
In contrast to countries that lack freedom, voting enables Americans to make meaningful decisions about their government and the people who operate it and write its laws.

Particularly in the voting that will take place Tuesday, Metro East voters have numerous important choices to make — all of them enumerated above. Don't waste your chance. Vote.

OK, WE DIDN'T VOTE FOR THE FLOOD TAX

Vote 'Yes' to control flooding

To the editor:

The Board of Directors and the Economic Development Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce have sought to be the catalyst and organizing force in passing a referendum that will increase revenues in the Metro East Sanitary District.

Earlier, both groups identified eight key issues that seriously affected further development of the Quad City area. First and foremost was the potential threat of flooding, such as was experienced in October 1986, as well as the rapidly increasing quantity and velocity of surface water and runoff from the upland areas.

Added to this, the higher groundwater levels throughout the river bottoms have caused severe damage to sewer systems and have also caused the foundations of many structures to collapse.

In order to protect present property values and to attract new investment to the area, the water problems must be addressed in a realistic manner.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has stated that the proper solutions to the flood danger are to replace the older and badly deteriorated floodgates, revamp and improve the drainage ditches, and completely overhaul all of the pumping stations.

The Corps proposes to provide engineering and the dollars needed to pay for the project at the rate of $3 for $1 of local matching funds.

To lower the groundwater to a more acceptable level, the Corps has proposed to install an $8 million system of deep-wells and pumps and provide all the dollars needed for construction.

The property needed for siting the wells and pumps is already owned by the MESD and would be accepted as an in-kind contribution.

In other words, the system would be provided at no additional cost to the district. The only thing is, the Corps estimates the cost of operating the system and allowing for future maintenance would require a revenue stream of $400,000 annually. This future cost would have to be borne entirely by the district.

State Rep. Wyvetter Young of East St. Louis introduced and was successful in passing House Bill 196 by an overwhelming majority in both the Illinois House and Senate.

Bill 196 calls for a referendum to increase the drainage district tax rate from 21 to 47 cents for five years, and to lower it to 31 cents thereafter.

The increase would provide $2,750,000 as the local share of $23 million for overhaul of pumping stations, floodgates and drainage ditches. These repairs are needed to prevent flooding that could be worse than the floodgate collapse in East St. Louis in October 1986.

It also will provide $400,000 per year for maintenance of 60 deep-wells to be installed by the Army Engineer Corps. They estimate this would save more than $2 million in water damage and sewer treatment costs annually around the district.

We hope that everyone will step forward and help in the passage of this referendum.

There is no room for doubting as to whether we will be successful; it is something we must do.

R. C. BUSH, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce

Says vote 'No' on MESD plan

To the editor:

A great deal has been written about the upcoming vote on the MESD. The MESD, Chamber of Commerce and local paper have been issuing doom and gloom forecasts for people in Madison and St. Clair counties if we fail to vote the way they want us to.

The publicity, "Pay now, with the Fed's help, or pay more later, with the help of a judge" is hogwash. Let those who say this show me where a judge over a two-county area has made the residents pump groundwater.

The ones who state the patronage system is cleaned up in MESD must be blind. A look at the current roster looks like a "Who's Who in Politics" to me.

Adverse publicity states there are 300,000 people involved. By addition of the latest census count with the cities, they list a total of 150,000. Will these 150,000 have to pay double?

Corps of Engineers studies indicate our area is full of groundwater due to runoff of the bluffs, not the river.

If this is correct, I would assume all the residents of both counties are responsible in some way for the problem. If the problem has to be done, all $31 million project has to be done, all should pay. They would get a 100 percent no vote from all the residents of the bluffs.

Corps of Engineers people told me that after a project has been OK'd and approved by Congress, they pay 75 percent of the total, with the local people paying the balance.

This does not imply or mean that it is on the shoulders of the homeowner to float a bond issue. Contrary to what has been said, that is just one of many ways. Other ways might be sales taxes over the two-county region; city government; county government; state government; Build Illinois funds, etc. The list is unlimited.

The ones who want to sock it to the homeowner took the easy road, put it on the tax bill and let the county send them a check.

What is wrong with using transit district money for it? These problems could better be resolved at the two-county level rather than the MESD and chamber-trying to push a tax increase with the help of a local paper. I do not believe they have any right trying to rainwash the people that we are in a fix-or-the-situation.

I urge MESD residents to vote "No." Their problem involves the whole two counties and the state as well.

JOE H. MITCHELL, Granite City

(Editor's note: No bond issue is proposed. Groundwater is involved; but the bulk of the project relates to river flooding and surface water; floodgates, pumping stations and ditches would be improved. All contracts would be awarded by the Army Engineer Corps, not MESD.)

Who will lead us?

When George Bush is elected President next Tuesday, one question will remain in my mind: Who will lead our country?

Bush will be the next chief executive — the media decided that weeks ago. The Dukakis factor was never more than negligible from the start. The Democrats could not find a candidate charismatic enough to counter the Reagan Revolution, and because of it, assured the GOP of another four years in the White House.

What is unknown, however, is to what degree George Bush will be able to lead. What will a Democratic majority in Congress mean to his effectiveness? What will he do when he inherits the reins of the largest debtor nation on the face of the earth? What forceful persona than the man he served under the last eight years, do in an age that stresses the image of a candidate as much as his leadership ability?

Those are scary questions, ones that most of us don't even ask, because we are either afraid of the answers or, unfortunately, could care less. The latter choice troubles me most. The President of 1989 America will need more help in guiding the country than all of his predecessors combined. Yet, apathy grows and clings to our walls like so much leafy ivy.

So who will lead us? Who will ensure the stability of the nation? Will it be the President? Or will we allow it to be the Banks? Big Business? The Lobbyists? Ourselves?

"Democracy for and by the people" is not a trite phrase, despite what you might have been telling yourself in the last few years. We can and must make an impression on those guiding our future. We must start building leaders of tomorrow at the earliest age, instilling in our children not only the knowledge of our political process, but also the desire to become involved.

During the last term of Ronald Reagan it has been said time and again that the man who took over the job would face a nation in economic turmoil and a world of unceasing strife. Now that we know who that man is, it will be up to all of us to help him out.

Does MESD tax increase have chance to pass?

Do you think the proposed Metro-East Sanitary District tax increase issue on next Tuesday's ballot will pass and do you personally support the increase?

Sue Barnett retires after 27 years service

Sue Barnett, customer service representative at Central Bank of Granite City, has retired after 27 years of service. It was announced by Drew Karandjeff, chairman. Barnett initially joined Central Bank in June 1944 in the Accounting Department. Through the years, she was promoted to a number of positions, including demand deposit accounting clerk. "Sue has made significant contributions to Central Bank and to our customers," Karandjeff said. "She is an outstanding employee. We wish Sue much happiness in her retirement, and we will miss her." Barnett said she and her husband, Durrell, plan to travel and spend a lot of time with their grandchildren. Central Bank of Granite City has three locations, 1909 Edison Ave., 3303 Nameoki Road and 2400 Madison Ave. It is a member of Central Banc System Inc., with banks in Glen Carbon, Fairview Heights and Marine and the Farmers & Merchants Bank in Carlinville.

EMPLOYEES HAVE FUN: A headless horseman (Bonnie Hutson), this year's first place winner of the Central Bank employees Halloween costume contest Monday morning. Credit union celebrates 50th year of service

The Electrical Workers Credit Union, Collinsville, observed the 50th anniversary of its founding Oct. 31. Only about 150 existing Illinois credit unions have been operating longer. Chartered in 1938, the credit union is available to members of IBEW Local 309 and their family members and to employees of the credit union. As of Sept. 30, the non-profit financial institution had assets exceeding $1.3 million and served nearly 580 members. The union offers savings plans and a variety of loan options including auto and student loans. Located at 2000 Mall, Collinsville, the primary officials are Charles Showman, chairman and president; Donald Schneider, vice president and secretary; and James Berger, treasurer. Jo Ann Carril is office manager.

Elderly benefit from act, but must pay more, too

By Lois Kendall
Staff affiliate

The Medicare Catastrophic Protection Act, signed into law July 1, significantly expands medical coverage for older Americans. But all older Americans will pay for the expanded benefits.

Beginning in 1989, people 65 years and older and disabled individuals eligible for Medicare (Part A) coverage will pay an annual surtax based on their taxable income.

People with a federal income tax liability of less than $150 will owe no extra tax. For each $150 of income tax liability, an individual will be assessed $2.50 in additional taxes, up to $800 per person.

The ceiling will be increased each year until 1993 when it will reach a cap of $1,050 per person, with each beneficiary paying an additional $25 for every $150 of income tax liability.

After 1993, the tax will be indexed according to the costs of Medicare benefits.

Along with the tax increase, Part B Medicare coverage (to cover doctors' bills) will increase from $24.80 to $31 per month.

Benefits from the Catastrophic Protection Act are substantial — unlimited hospital coverage after an annual deductible, expanded nursing home and home health care coverage, a cap on out-of-pocket costs under Part B and limited coverage for outpatient drugs.

But the costs also may be substantial.

"Seniors affected by this law may not realize that they are paying for it," said Larry McGowen, CPA, of French, McGowen & Co.

The surtax may pose a hardship for people with fixed incomes, he said.

"I'm not saying this is a bad tax; I just want people to be aware that it will (have an) impact on them and give them positive ways to plan for it if they want to minimize that impact," McGowen said.

To that end, McGowen, and Mark Nuelle, investments counselor at Stifel Nicolaus & Co. Inc. in St. Louis have put together a free tax and investment planning seminar for senior citizens.

The seminar will focus on reducing an individual's tax liability, thereby reducing the amount of the Medicare surtax. One way to reduce tax liability is through the split-funded annuity, McGowen said.

Such an annuity gives the investor a monthly income. About 85 percent of the payments during the first five years will be considered non-taxable, because dividends received are part of the original income.

"This will reduce his taxable income, thereby also reducing his liability for the Medicare tax. It won't work in all cases — for some people, nothing will reduce their tax liability," But there are plans to help middle-income people," McGowen says.

Anyone interested in attending the seminars is asked to pre-register by calling (314)342-2258.

About real estate

By Don Campbell

Vet's wife pays price for his drug problem

Dear Mr. Campbell:

My husband is a veteran and we bought our home under the Veterans Administration. My husband, after 18 years of marriage, is struggling out on cocaine. Our mortgage payment is $757 a month. I had to put my husband out eight months ago so I've been struggling with the mortgage since then. He has run up all of our credit cards getting cash advances so he can support his habit. I have not seen him since I put him out and I need lower mortgage payments.

I've talked to the VA, but they say they can't help me because I'm not a veteran, and the only way they could help would be if he gets into jail and ends up in a hospital. There has to be some government office that I can get help from. Is there any place you can think of where I might go for assistance?

E.K.

Answer: As you have understated it so dramatically, you do have a problem and the mortgage payment is only the tip of the iceberg. No, the VA can do nothing about the monthly payment because it is simply insuring the lender against default. To whom do you make your mortgage payments? This is the organization that you'll have to approach about refinancing or otherwise restructuring your loan, but I can't really be very optimistic on this score in the light of the turmoil into which your husband has thrown your finances.

The point the VA raised about helping him if he is confined is a good one. If there is any way in the world you can contact your husband and persuade him to turn himself in for treatment, please do it.

Because presumably, you owe a bundle on the cards, you'll probably have to settle for having new cards reissued in your name only. Because you seem to be making the payments somehow, without any help from him, I must assume that you are employed and, presumably, have a credit record of your own. All to the good.

But your basic problem is a legal one. If you can't afford a lawyer, please contact your local Legal Aid Society or Community Legal Services to see if some arrangement might be worked out. A lawyer would probably have better luck than you in arranging some sort of accommodation with your lender about the mortgage payments.

Dear Mr. Campbell: I have a 30-year mortgage at 9.5 percent on an amount of $78,600. In the 18th month I were to start making double principal payments, how long before the debt would be retired? And what would the savings in interest be? My payments are $660.82 a month.

Answer: If you start doubling up in the 18th month you'll be starting with a 341-payment mortgage and paying it off in half that time, or in slightly more than 14 years. And you will be saving approximately $97,839 in interest in that time (paying that is, about $61,751 in interest vs. $159,590 in interest over 30 years).

Cars big business for Monsanto

Automakers are a big customer of Monsanto Co.

Last year, a spokesman reports, the St. Louis-based company's chemical arm sold $220 million worth of plastics, resins and rubber chemicals to Detroit and to Japanese "transplants" — Japanese auto plants in the United States.

And that volume will be higher this year because domestic plants are building even more plastic product into cars this year, the spokesman says.

The $220 million represented 12 percent of Monsanto's overall 1987 volume of $7.3 billion.

Monsanto Chemical Company's best known auto-related products are ABS and Safflex.

ABS is the plastic used for interior features such as door handles.

When mixed with nylon or other synthetics, it can be used on the exterior to make such items as car grilles for sun-view mirrors.

Safflex, the plastic sheet sandwiched between two layers of the windshield, prevents the glass from shattering.

Monsanto-made acrylic fibers are used for auto upholstery; nylon fibers go into carpeting. The company also makes coating additives for paint and rubber chemicals that help the rubber cure and inhibit degrading.

Consumer tips

Initial car leasing costs disclosure required

By Neil F. Hartigan

Q. What are the initial automobile leasing costs?

A. Federal law requires the lessor to disclose any upfront costs you have to pay before you sign the lease.

At the time the lease is signed, the lessor may require you to pay a security deposit, the first and last periodic payment, and a "capitalized cost reduction" also known as the initial payment. The more you pay down initially, the lower your periodic payments.

The security deposit for a leased vehicle is similar to a security deposit for an apartment. Its purpose is to make money available to the lessor in the event that you owe money at the end of the lease, or if you fail to pay during the term of the lease.

Your security deposit could be used by the lessor to cover past-due payments, damage to the vehicle, excess mileage, or an end-of-lease payment. However, if you do not owe the lessor any money at the end of the lease, the lessor is required to return the entire security deposit to you.

When you buy a car, you must pay sales tax, title and license fees. When you lease a car, you may have to pay these costs, or the lessor might agree to cover them.

If you pay these costs, you can include them with your initial payment or you may be able to include them in your periodic payments. The Consumer Leasing Act requires that the lessor give you a written disclosure of the specific amounts to be paid for sales tax, title, and license fees.

If the lessor provides insurance, you must be told the type, amount of coverage, and its cost to you, if any.

If the lessor does not provide insurance, you must be told the type and amount of insurance you must obtain to comply with the requirements of the lease.

Q. My wife and I have been thinking about investing some money. Could you give us some tips on finding a good investment adviser?

A. Today, financial products and services available are both more diverse and more complex than ever before. Professional investment advisers have become a necessity for the average investor and the investment adviser profession has grown at a tremendous pace.

Unfortunately, with the growing number of legitimate investment advisers have come a few unscrupulous scam artists who prey on unsuspecting investors.

When you begin your search for an investment adviser get recommendations from people whom you trust or are knowledgeable about securities. Check with the secretary of state's Securities

Department to make sure the adviser is registered to do business in Illinois and check with the Better Business Bureau for information on the adviser's business reputation.

Some advisers make specific recommendations based on your financial needs and objectives; others simply send out bulletins on "hot stocks" and new issues.

Ask the adviser to explain the fee system. Does he collect a commission for sale of a combination of fee-plus-commission? Even though the commission-on-fee system is the most common form of compensation, it may leave you to wonder if your adviser is recommending a particular investment because it is right for you or because it pays a handsome commission.

The following are some other practical tips when investing:

• Be very skeptical of promises of exceptional profits and guaranteed returns.

• Request a prospectus or other information for any investment. Ask your adviser to explain anything you do not understand.

• Be sure you understand the risks of the investment you are making. Do not invest in something that you don't understand.

• If you invest in high-risk ventures, do not put in more money than you can afford to lose.

• Do not tie up all your funds in non-liquid investments.

Guaranteed returns lead investment tug of war

By Bob Hardcastle

There is a tug of war between guaranteed and non-guaranteed investments.

A year ago, everyone was talking about their great returns in the stock market, mutual funds, variable annuities and other variable-return investments. Few people were talking about the guaranteed returns of 5 1/2 percent and 6 percent CDs, treasury bonds and treasury bills. Most people said they couldn't make it on such low returns.

But since it topped out last year in August and then dropped 500 points on Oct. 19, the stock market has not gained much. Also, in the mid-1980s real estate limited partnerships saw a decline because real estate in some parts of the country lost up to 50 percent of its value. Oil, metals and other investments have been through gloomy times. These types of investments have fallen out of favor; guaranteed returns are back.

It is important to remember the old slogan that it might be better to have one in the hand versus two in the bush, two in the bush being the variable return and one in the hand being the guaranteed return. CDs currently are paying about 5 percent and five-year treasury bonds are paying about 9 percent.

I am not saying these types of investments are for everyone. But we have to look at the bottom line, which in my opinion is return, risk factor and sleep syndrome. If we can't sleep because of our investments, we should probably move our money to the types of investments where we feel safer. Even though this safe investment may not give us a better return, it will allow us to handle the emotional stress better. I have found that this is much better for the investor in the long run.

I don't look for much of an increase in interest rates between now and the end of the year. The long-term bonds will probably get up to 10 percent from their current 9 1/2 percent. The short-term rates will possibly increase another half point.

Rather than making long-term investments right now, I will suggest looking at short-term bank or financial institution investment returns. However, when the long-term bond rates get above 10 percent, which could be before the end of the year, then that might be the time to start going long-term on guaranteed investments.

The investment cycle is constant, usually the same amount of money is being invested throughout the world. It just moves in different directions at different times.

As the investment community's attitudes strengthen, more money will flow back into variable-return investments. But right now investor attitude is still shaky, so guaranteed returns look awfully good.

Butterfly Club celebrates 38 years in area

The Butterfly Club celebrated its 38th anniversary with a luncheon Oct. 27 at the Third Street West Cafe in Alton.

The group met later at the Woman hits 100th year on Friday

By Maxine Duniphan
Staff affiliate

Golda M. Thornburg, a resident of Colonnades Nursing Home, 1 Colonial Drive, will celebrate her 100th birthday Friday with her family and friends.

Mrs. Thornburg was born Nov. 4, 1888, in Staunton, Ill., the first of 11 children born to Thomas and Minnie Richardson. The family soon moved to the Pough, Ill., area, where Mrs. Thornburg spent most of her youth.

In 1906, she married Muri T. Thornburg, a telegraph operator at the Wabash Railroad Depot in Pough. They had one son, Norman, born in 1907. A few years later, the Thornburgs moved to Granite City, where she also became a telegraph operator at the Wabash Depot.

During the years, the Thornburgs lived in several Illinois communities before settling in Taylorville. Her husband died in 1950 and their son in 1961.

Mrs. Thornburg remained in Taylorville until 1966, when she moved into the Pontoon Plaza Apartments to be closer to her family. In 1984, at the age of 96, she moved to the Colonnades, where she is in good spirits and enjoying life.

Her appearance belies her advanced years, said her sister, Ruth Townsend, Lake Ozark, Mo., who said most people guess Mrs. Thornburg to be many years younger.

Mrs. Thornburg's age might be a matter of heredity. Her mother, Minnie Richardson, a longtime Granite City resident, celebrated her 100th birthday in 1967. She died later that year.

Besides Townsend, Mrs. Thornburg has another sister, Edna Newman, Alton, and one brother, Sam Richardson, Belleville.

Mrs. Thornburg still holds membership in the Order of the Eastern Star and the Gabriel Shrine and is a member of the United Methodist Church.

Townsend, the youngest of the 11 children, and her husband, "Corky," were longtime owners and publishers of the Granite City Press-Record.

Should you keep your child at home?

One of the toughest decisions for working parents to make is determining whether a sick toddler should stay home from day care, be it a center, or a home. It is not an infrequent decision. According to a report from the American Academy of Pediatrics, on the average, children up to age 2 have 6 to 10 illnesses every year. Three- to 5-year-olds contract only a few less.

It is not an easy decision to make. Parents face a sick and probably whining child who may not want to go to day care on one hand, but may get bored at home. There is also the possibility of damage to career or job security from missing work.

If the parents trade responsibilities on who stays home with the child, it can develop into a battle over who has the more important career. If they decide to take the child to day care, they have to worry about exposing the rest of the children there to whatever their child's condition is.

"It is a big decision to make, whether to send your child to day care or not," said Dr. Shafiq Ahmad, a pediatrician on staff at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. "Sometimes you may have to if you must be at work."

The best thing to do if you are in doubt is to check with your physician. He or she can usually tell you if day care is a good idea or not.

A few basic guidelines can help the parents in deciding what is best for their child.

First of all, listen to the child. If he or she really feels too terrible to go, you will probably be able to tell from their behavior. You know your child best. Take them to your physician if you think they are that sick.

If the child just has a cold, a runny nose or a bumped knee, he or she can safely attend day care. The same goes for the child who has an ear infection but has been on medication for a day or more. Even a case of chicken pox that is at least a week old and no longer contagious is safe.

Symptoms that indicate an illness may be contagious or severe enough to keep the child home include diarrhea, vomiting, high fever and certain types of rashes. Also watch for pallor, irritability and excessive sleepiness. In these cases, the child should see a physician.

If you decide your child can safely attend day care, make sure that the facility is prepared. They should provide the youngster with adequate rest, appropriate diet, proper administration of medications and both physical and emotional support.

Office hours expanded for absentee vote

County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles has announced additional office hours for the convenience of persons who find it necessary to vote an absentee ballot for the Nov. 8 general election.

Persons who are going to be out of the county on election day or persons who are physically unable to go to the polls are among those who qualify to vote an absentee ballot.

The county clerk's office will be open, for absentee voting on Nov. 4 from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 5, from 9 a.m. until noon. In-person voting will be available until 5 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 7.

Absentee voters to whom a ballot must be mailed must file their signed application in the clerk's office by 5 p.m. Nov. 3.

All requests for absentee ballot applications should be made to the county clerk's office, she said.

To date, 3,803 ballots have been mailed by her office. Of that amount, 1,683 ballots have been returned.

THE FUTURE—FOR $6 PER YEAR LET'S TAKE IT!

Approval of the Metro-East Sanitary District Tax Rate Question on November 8 will increase regional taxes by $1,200,000 per year for the next five years.

That's $6 per year for each of the region's 200,000 residents. What do we get for that small commitment?

1. Federal grants totalling $23,250,000 — to repair our flood protection system and control groundwater.
2. Hundreds of jobs to be generated by a $31,000,000 public works project of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
3. Protection of our homes and businesses and schools and communities from the threat of destructive river flooding.
4. A deep-well and pumping system to lower the water table to keep water from breaking our sewer lines and flooding our basements every spring.
5. Rehabilitation of the canals and drainage ditches of our flood plain region, to control the flow of surface water.
6. Prevent us from losing equity in our homes, which would result from denial of flood insurance, an essential in any mortgage transaction in a flood plain.
7. Renew the basic infrastructural element most vital for bringing new businesses and industries for our area ... the only way to have a prosperous economic future.

MASSIVE FEDERAL FUNDING ... PROTECTION FOR OUR HOMES ... JOBS NOW AND IN THE FUTURE ... SAFEGUARDING THE EQUITY IN OUR PROPERTIES!

That's a great return on a $6 investment.

State news

New study documents energy bill savings

Household energy savings averaging 15 to 20 percent through the use of high-efficiency furnaces and other conservation measures have been documented in a new study conducted by the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

Using funds from the Home Energy Loan Program (HELP), low- and middle-income households were provided with 20 percent to 80 percent of the cost to install program-approved conservation measures, with an average cost of $800.

Included were programs to lower water temperatures; lower winter thermostat settings; install weather-stripping on doors and windows; add insulation to basements, sidewalls, ceilings and attics; and install automatic setback thermostats. A key emphasis was to replace low-efficiency residential furnaces with high-efficiency natural gas units.

Businesses to get help for child care

Gov. Jim Thompson said last week that the state can now provide loans to businesses that wish to establish on-site child care centers for their employees.

The incentive package, offered by the Department of Children and Family Services, along with the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, and the Department of Public Aid, is made possible through "Build Illinois" funds.

Employers interested in taking advantage of the program call (312) 917-3265. There are now 149,000 slots at licensed day-care centers in the state, and it is estimated that by 1990 up to 649,000 slots will be needed.

Cold season calls for special measures

As the cold season approaches, the best relief for colds is rest, a mild pain reliever and lots of fluids, especially fruit juices, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Many over-the-counter drugs relieve cold symptoms, but it's not advisable to take drugs which relieve symptoms you are not experiencing. For example, if you are sneezing and coughing are your only symptoms, do not take a cold medication that also relieves fever, sore throat or congestion, said Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, director.

The seven symptoms usually associated with a cold are: sore throat, sneezing, runny nose, watery eyes, aches, and pains, nasal congestion, and coughing.

Demand exceeds supply of bonds

Investor demand for "Build Illinois" Series G Zero Coupon Savings Bonds and Series H Bonds has exceeded the amount of bonds offered by about 40 percent, according to Gov. Jim Thompson.

The approximately $2 million in Series G Savings Bonds were structured and marketed to investors in Illinois as a means of savings for retirement or education. The approximately $58 million in Series H Bonds, intended for the traditional bond investor, were also oversubscribed, Thompson said.

The majority of the proceeds from the bond sale will be used to provide wastewater treatment assistance to local governments and make highway improvements.

Centers to assist sales to U.S. government

Illinois' network of Procurement Assistance Centers has been given a $150,000 grant from the Defense Contract Administration Services Region, Chicago, to help businesses sell goods and services to the U.S. Department of Defense.

"The federal government is the largest single buyer in the world," said Jay Hedges, director of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. "This market, however, is often overlooked by small businesses which are discouraged by a perception that doing business with the government is clouded in red tape."

Businesses interested in information on the program may call 1-800-252-2923; write their local Procurement Assistance Center Office; Southwestern P.A.C., Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025; or contact Phil Carpenter, 692-2923.

Back from Britain on a long day's journey into night

It was a "long day's journey into night" for a TWA Boeing 747 at 1 p.m. Sunday, we chased the sun across the Atlantic. Eight hours later, but gaining six hours on the clock, we landed at 3 p.m. in Chicago.

For the 5:15 p.m. flight from O'Hare to Lambert, there was still a slight bit of daylight, even though it was nearing midnight in London.

JET LAG is minimized with scheduling. By going to bed early Sunday evening, I was able to have longer-than-usual sleep and was rested for Monday's return to work in the final pre-election week.

Of course, the evening flight eastward eight days earlier had converted a normal period of darkness into an extra-short night. There was a five-hour difference in time then, because America's daylight saving time had not yet ended.

But the bottom line is that intercontinental travel is relatively easy to cope with these days. It probably would be enjoyed by a much greater number of people if its simplicity was more widely known.

OUR MUTUAL LANGUAGE makes travel in Great Britain especially easy, even if they do call long trucks articulated lorries.

Trucks, automobiles and double-decker buses are serious hazards, incidentally, when Americans walk across English streets. This is because pedestrians need to look both ways, especially to the right. It is hard to break lifelong "look left" habits instantly, but it is essential if you wish to survive.

London congestion encourages motorists to drive fast and to tailgate, relying on their reflexes to apply brakes quickly when the vehicle in front slows suddenly.

WHEN YOUR CITY is thousands of years old, it tends to have insufficient room for traffic and for parking. Don't try London with a full-size car and don't try "driving on the wrong side."

What I mean is that you have to drive on the "wrong side" but you can't count on mastering it at the speeds you would have to maintain. At a turn, you could find yourself in a lane with oncoming traffic. Just hire a

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

taxicab — and don't fret about the cost. It's worth it.

It used to bother me that some Granite City streets are too narrow for two lanes of parked autos and two lanes of traffic.

WHAT DO YOU DO when you meet another driver? Well, on hundreds of three-car-wide London streets, you back up.

Don't get the idea that I think it's too hectic in England. It isn't. But if you had to list a couple of faults, you might want to mention the traffic and the cooking.

COSTS ARE NOT impossible, certainly not as bad as in Tokyo and some other mammoth cities. But the current exchange rate of one British pound to about $1.80 makes some prices seem a bit excessive.

If you had to find another fault, it would be the built-in inconvenience. Fast buffet lines don't exist because there is always some reason or another why hot or cold dishes can't be provided at your particular place in line at the particular time you are there.

People-traffic patterns don't exactly match McDonald's; waiters and bus boys constantly must shoulder their way through lines of customers.

QUEUING UP is a phrase I've been trying to avoid, but queues are a fact of life in England.

There are lines and waits — for food, theater tickets, shopping and tours — whether it is rush hour or some other hour.

But all these considerations pale into insignificance when compared to the beautiful countryside, historic buildings, contrasting accents, outstanding drama and literature, age-old customs and shrines, medical and other scientific research, exciting nightlife, intellectual debate, innovative fashions, buoyant prosperity, cultural diversity, and general aura of good cheer and friendliness.

ALTHOUGH ISOLATED from the United States by thousands of miles and by centuries of differing traditions, Great Britain is not unaware of or uninterested in America. It was possible last week to follow the Bush-Dukakis presidential race in extreme detail.

Many of London's newspapers have assigned reporters to follow the U.S. candidates and write daily dispatches about the campaign. The papers also are preparing and presenting lengthy analytical articles. The Independent is offering exceptional insight into who is saying what,

BECAUSE YOU CARE.

THE MEDICARE GENERATION.

He won't be covered by Medicare until 2053. But he was born into a world, and a health care system, where Medicare is the cornerstone.

It is a program for the elderly and the disabled, over 32 million people. Yet it directly affects all of us.

All of us who work pay into Medicare. All of us with protected family members benefit from it. All of us who are not yet covered expect that we will be someday.

The Medicare program—just like our Social Security system—must be kept strong. Inadequate Medicare funding threatens all of us—because it threatens a hospital's ability to deliver care to all patients, all ages.

If a hospital reduces emergency room service, or closes a burn center, a child in need is just as vulnerable as an elderly heart-attack victim.

For the past five years, Congress has cut badly needed increases in Medicare payments to hospitals. That cannot continue!

Let Congress know how you vote—to protect Medicare! Write to your U.S. congressional representative or senator today.

Capture gives military planner different outlook on Vietnam

By Frank Hunter
Staff affiliate

The brilliant military strategists routinely manipulating men on the battlefield from behind the lines often are accused of not knowing their way around the trenches.

And the carnage that ensues in "BAT 21" (*½) leaves one of these strategists, Col. Iceal Hambleton, played by Gene Hackman, convinced that war never determines who is right, but only who is left.

A Vietnam story based on a true character — Hambleton presently is retired and living in Arizona — "BAT 21" is a solid action drama with a screenplay adapted from William C. Anderson's novel of the same title.

Hambleton was a gifted planner who "knew how to take care of himself at 30,000 feet with a cup of coffee in his hand," Hackman says during a rueful confession to Captain Bartholomew "Bird Dog" Clark, a dedicated 35-year-old spotter pilot who is played by Danny Glover.

The Clark character, apparently a composite of several rescue pilots, skims over jungles teeming with Viet Cong in a Cessna scout plane in an effort to maintain radio contact with Hambleton, whose own craft has been shot down in enemy territory.

During four harrowing days hiding from people he can't even see, Hambleton learns that war is vastly different on the ground. Being an expert planner is all very well, but the only thing Hambleton can do in a strange and hostile environment is sit very still, keep his head down and pray that Clark maintains radio contact and keeps an eye peeled for him.

What results is a taut drama directed by Peter Markle about a man who not only is in the wrong place at the wrong time, but who also happens to be the wrong age for the kind of mess he's in.

Hackman really gets this message across as the downed colonel discovering that he really doesn't know much about fighting the war he has been waging, and that the real heroes are the anonymous allied soldiers on the ground who carry out his orders from on high.

He also realizes that while he outranks Clark, the life guard in the plane above is the one whose orders he had better follow, though a top-secret plan Hambleton initiated ultimately backfires on him and forces him to make some terrifying new decisions.

What develops is a warm rapport between Hambleton and Clark, a dependency relationship of the most basic kind explored by the two actors in good performances.

Several American Vietnam films have been made in the Philippines. But when the producers found the political situation there too volatile, they choose to film "BAT 21" in a rain forest on the eastern tip of the island of Borneo.

While this writer knows absolutely nothing about military operations, the rescue attempts appear highly authentic, right down to aerial stunt work involving a couple of helicopters.

The strong supporting cast includes David Marshall Grant as a gun-bo chopper pilot devoted to making dangerous rescue missions work successfully, and Jerry Reed as Clark's resourceful commanding officer.

Rated R (language, violence). Running time: 110 minutes.

DANNY GLOVER is Bird Dog, a spotter pilot whose radio transmissions are the only link to safety for Col. Iceal Hambleton, a career officer stranded behind enemy lines.

'Mystic Pizza' provides a slice of real-life charm

"Mystic Pizza" (*) is a gently humorous little film that packs an honest emotional wallop in telling the story of three girls, two of them sisters, writing with teen-age angst and indecision as they chart their uncertain futures following graduation from high school.

The setting is a steamy pizza parlor in the fishing village of Mystic, Conn., and much of the anxiety endured by the girls derives from alarming cases of infatuation, a disease usually cured by marriage.

The screenplay by four writers, Amy Jones, Perry Howze, Randy Howze and Alfred Uhry, is deftly written, and while the principal characters are well on their way to maturity, the film never loses sight of their vulnerability and the amusing aspects of their relationships.

This is a good film that sticks in the mind, with engaging performances and strong direction by Donald Petrie, who knows how to keep the story and characters interesting in its first feature film.

Rated R (language, sexual theme). Running time: 104 minutes.

women

by Robert G. Park, M.D.

Infertility is a subject w

Infertility is a problem for both men and women. About 10 percent of infertility problems stem from the man, another 10 percent from the woman, and 20 percent are either unknown or the cause is unknown. For women, the problems are usually related to the ovary or the ability to produce eggs; problems with the fallopian tubes, uterus, cervix, or vagina; a problem in producing the correct amount of hormones; or a problem with the timing of the ovulation.

The causes of infertility in a woman are complex. Infertility can be related to age (women over

You may not know that you will have problems becoming pregnant until you try to do so. If you do not use contraception during intercourse for one year and do not become pregnant, you may wish to talk to your doctor about infertility testing.

Depending on the problem, treatment could include using drugs to regulate or stimulate hormones (which produce the egg and prepare the uterus for childbirth), surgery to repair damaged tubes or ovaries or to remove scar tissue, or even to help nature along with egg or embryo transplants (in-vitro fertilization).

GCHS career night turnout a success despite date conflict

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY—Despite a scheduling conflict, "College-Career Evening" at Granite City High School seemed to come off without a hitch.

"I'm pleased with the turnout, although it's not nearly what it usually is," Sondra Kopsky, guidance counselor at the school, said.

Kopsky estimated that 250 students turned out for career night where the event usually draws 350 or more. Many parents also attend, Kopsky said.

"Many of the students and their parents are over at the play," she said.

The recent faculty strike delayed the start of school and forced the rescheduling of many events including the annual Homecoming play, which would have been held about three weeks ago.

The date for the college-career event could not be changed because invitations to the 70 rep-representatives in attendance had been sent in May.

"You can't just contact that many people and tell them to come some other time," Kopsky said. "It would have been chaotic."

To complicate things further, a contract ratification vote for the teachers was also being held that evening.

But in spite of all the conflicts, students and parents filled the cafeteria.

Among them was Casey Krakowicki who was actively collecting literature and information for his daughter, Christina, a senior.

"She's over at the play," he said.

Krakowicki found the event a good experience saving him a lot of wear and tear on his car.

"We drove hundreds of miles this summer," he said. "It's a lot easier to come to one location. It's not like going to the campus and actually seeing it, but now I've seen a few more we may be going to."

Krakowicki also said he was "shopping for scholarships."

Two financial aid seminars were also held during the event for those interested in applying.

"It's often a big job in itself just to fill out the forms," Kopsky said. "Students need to know what money is available to them."

Trisha Valencia, a sophomore, was attempting to get an early start on choosing a career.

"I've been looking at flight engineering," she said. "I'd like to be a pilot."

Career night gave her a chance to make some decisions about her future.

"It's helped me to see what I'm setting goals for," she said. "I'm also finding out what I need to qualify for certain things so that I know before I get there."

Those who were unable to attend the event won't miss out entirely. About 80 representatives routinely visit the school during the year, Kopsky said.

HALLOWEEN DAY PARADERS: Students of Parkview School on Maryville Road participate in the annual Halloween parade Monday afternoon. Costumes ranging from the California Raisins to nightmare fiend Freddie Kruger paraded along Maryville Road and through the nearby residential area. Teachers in addition to the students dressed up for the parade viewed by a number of parents along the route.

Venice needs plan for reading improvement, state test shows

VENICE — While 13 percent of third-graders scored in the top 25 percentile of the Illinois Goal Assessment Reading Program test, another 59 percent scored below the 50 percent mark.

Thirty-two third-graders took the exam last April when it was given statewide to all third, sixth and eighth grade students.

"Now we have to go through and pick out those students who scored below the 50 percentile," District 3 Superintendent Charles McCaskill said. "Then we have to decide what we're going to do to try and bring those scores up."

The state has imposed a Nov. 15 deadline on the plan.

"This is the first time the school has had this test," McCaskill said. Planning is difficult because there is no previous data to compare it to, he said.

Statistics on the sixth and eighth grades are still being compiled, Principal Seth Kirkpatrick said.

While the attendance rate at the elementary school has been more than 96 percent this school year, tardiness has become a serious problem, Kirkpatrick approached the board with a plan to have students suspended after their third instance of tardiness.

"The parents would have to bring the child to school before he would be allowed back," Kirkpatrick said. "It's another way of making parents aware of the problem."

Kirkpatrick also encouraged board members to attend the PTA volleyball game Friday, Nov. 4, at 6:30 p.m.

Annual cheerleading clinic scheduled here on Nov. 11

The Granite City High School Cheerleading Organization will be sponsoring its annual cheerleading clinic on Friday, Nov. 11, at the high school gym annex.

The clinic will begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 3 p.m. Participants will receive instruction in gymnastics, pyramid building, double stunts, sideline chants, pom routines, cheerleading jumps and center cheers.

Everyone attending the clinic should bring a sack lunch. A drink will be provided by the cheerleaders. Candy bars and bakery items will be available for purchase.

The cost of the clinic is the same as last year, $10 per person; however, additional children from the same family will pay only $6. The $10 clinic fee includes a souvenir tote bag.

Everyone attending must have a signed parent permission form and provide insurance. Checks should be mailed to Mrs. Terry Papa, c/o Granite City High School, 3101 Madison Ave., Granite City, 62040.

Checks should be made payable to Granite City High School Cheerleaders.

Participants may also register the morning of the clinic from 8:30 to 9.

Children attending the clinic must be at least eight years of age.

All participants must wear shorts or warm-ups, no jewelry, and long hair must be tied back. Gum will not be allowed.

Deja vu; Warriors to state for 12th time

Restart goals deadily in 3-0 win over Panthers

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

EDWARDSVILLE — It was, as Yogi Berra might say, deja vu all over again for the Granite City Warriors and the O'Fallon Panthers.

Almost a year to the day after a similar engagement, the two teams met Tuesday at Bob Geelker Field for the right to advance to the state soccer tournament. Last year, the Warriors got two goals from Herb Heaton and one from Scott Stone for a 3-0 win en route to the state title.

This year, it was two from John VanBuskirk and one from Stone for another 3-0 win and a ticket to this weekend's state tournament, to be held once again at Palatine Fremd in the northwest suburb of Chicago.

The Warriors (11-3 on the field, 11-12 overall) will play St. Charles (20-4-2) in the second quarterfinal game at 2:30 p.m. today.

This game had parallels between the recent World Series. Fortunately for the Warriors, it had a different result. The Panthers were like the Dodgers, relying on emotion, tight defense and a team effort. The Warriors were the Oakland A's — definitely the favorites, but wary of the emotion-filled underdogs.

But Granite City didn't choke like the A's did. Whereas Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire came up all but empty in the World Series, the Warriors' version of the Bash Brothers — VanBuskirk and Stone — finished off the Panthers.

"This is just the same as last year," said VanBuskirk. "It feels good for all of us."

All three goals came off restarts. VanBuskirk broke the ice at 34:46 of the second quarter. It was another powerful throw-in by senior Jerry Thompson that set it up. Thompson fired one out of the left corner, where VanBuskirk headed the ball toward O'Fallon keeper Eddie L'Hommiedieu — who with 16 shutouts this year was the Panthers' Orel Horshiser.

The ball squeezed between L'Hommiedieu and the post and trickled in. The game seemed to be over then. It was obvious the first goal would be decisive.

"It wasn't our approach to just wait for the first goal," said Warrior coach Gene Baker, making his 11th trip to state in search of his eighth state title — and the Warriors' ninth. "I think O'Fallon came out trying to keep us off the board and get a break. We were after the intimidating shutout."

Having not been scored on yet in the post-season, the one goal seemed to be enough for the Warriors. But Stone really put it out of reach with his 13th goal of the season at 42:01 of the third quarter. Chris Nolan made a corner kick from the right corner. The ball bounced off a couple of defenders to Stone, who ripped it home.

On all three goals, the defensive-minded Panthers crowded the goal area so much L'Hommiedieu had no room to maneuver.

"He was annoyed by that," said Baker. "He needed to do something about it. But L'Hommiedieu played well. A lot of the O'Fallon players come to my camps. They are a neat bunch of kids and they played well."

The Warriors finished the scoring at 74:43, just minutes after a beautiful free-kick goal by Chris Ryan was nullified because it was supposed to be an indirect kick. Thompson got a throw-in from the right sideline and VanBuskirk flicked it beautifully.

"The second throw-in was a lot better than the first one," said Thompson. "We had the second one set up nice."

"Thompson's throw-ins have been great all year," VanBuskirk said. "He was really zinging them in tonight."

O'Fallon had only one real

St. Charles a surprise team

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

The Warriors' quarterfinal opponent at this weekend's state tournament is a surprise team. Just ask the coach.

"This is an absolute shock," said St. Charles coach Tim Dailley. "We thought it would be a rebuilding year. We weren't that strong last year and I never expected we would come back this quickly."

The Fighting Saints are 20-4-2 after a 3-2 win over Rockford Guilford in the Guilford Super-Sectional on Tuesday. The Warriors will face them at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the second quarterfinal game.

Powell, Flyers cut down upset-minded Redbirds

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

ALTON — The Alton Redbirds' hopes for an upset on Wednesday were defused by Vernon Powell.

Powell, the East St. Louis Flyers' senior quarterback, shook off the effects of a groin injury and threw four touchdown passes in only two quarters as the Flyers knocked off Alton 30-6 in the first round of the Illinois Class 6A playoffs.

Junior Rollie Nevilles started the game in place of Powell and led the Flyers (10-0) to a 22-yard field goal by DeCarlos Nicolson late in the first quarter. But Powell came on in the second quarter and burned the Redbirds (6-4) repeatedly.

He connected with Dana Howard on a 25-yard touchdown on fourth and 8 early in the second quarter for a 10-0 lead. Powell then combined with 5-7, 190-pound senior Cecil Hawkins on three long touchdowns. They combined on a 31-yarder right before halftime, then scores of 52 and 53 yards in the third quarter.

"I thought about not playing," Vernon said. "I asked him early in the week if he could play and he said 'yes.' I asked again today and he said 'yes.' I asked again right before the game started and he said 'yes.'"

That was enough for Shannon, and it proved to be too much for coach Collis James and his Redbirds.

"Powell just did a superb job passing," said James, who led Alton to its first-ever playoff appearance. "Our guys were watching him instead of the receivers. And they made good catches. Quarterback experience was the big factor tonight. Powell was excellent and our sophomore (Twan Perry) needs to get more experience."

Powell completed 8 of 14 passes for 234 yards. Perry didn't complete a pass and was intercepted three times by Dwayne

Rose. Alton scored with 1:03 left in the game on Greg Cross' seven-yard run.

The Flyers will play Belleville East on Saturday at Belleville's Township Stadium. The Lancers (8-2) won 23-10 at Danville on Wednesday in another first-round game. East St. Louis beat Belleville East 14-7 earlier this year.

Other second-round matches in the area on Saturday include Edwardsville vs. Mt. Vernon in Class 5A, Belleville Althoff vs. Roxana in 4A and East St. Louis Assumption vs. Dupu in 2A. The Tigers got three touchdowns from Derek Tieman to upset unbeaten Alton Marquette 18-14.

WOOD RIVER

CHRIS BARTLING breaks tackles to score the Warrior touchdown in the 40-7 loss at Belleville East last week.

0-9 year tried Yates' patience

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Ron Yates has patience. Tons of it.

"Sometimes I think I have too much patience," said the Warrior football coach. "But I feel it's better to have too much patience than not enough."

Patience was a virtue over the last two months for Yates. A less patient man might be making a reservation in the nearest rubber room by now.

Coaching the Warrior football team this fall was not going to be a cakewalk under the best of circumstances. The task was to rebuild a team that was 2-7 in 1987. Yates hoped for four wins — and with a break or two — five wins. But a teachers' strike cancelled the games Granite City had the best chance of winning. The result was an ugly 0-9 ledger on the 1988 calendar.

But put a large asterisk by that 0-9.

"We have to fake everything we say about this season with a grain of salt," said Yates. "We missed four weeks of practice."

Yates said that last sentence with a tone that suggested something like, "How could we be expected to have any kind of season when we played one game, took four weeks off, then resumed competition against teams that had no interruptions in their schedule?"

He's right. Any post-mortem on 1988 has to be qualified with mention of the infamous strike. And it came at the worst time. Missed were games against Quincy, Belleville West and Collinsville. Those three teams combined to win four games on the field.

"We could have competed against all of those teams, and the East St. Louis game might have been different," Yates said.

But the one game not affected by the strike was the one that opened the season. The Warriors lost 33-0 to Cahokia in the season opener.

"Our juniors just weren't ready to play varsity football that night," he said. "We had a lack of mental maturity from our junior class. They weren't ready for the physicalness of play. They were too mechanical all year."

"But they came along some, and these juniors are looking favorably toward 1989."

Yates hopes to have 25 seniors next year, compared to fewer than 10 this year. He had 19 juniors when the year ended Friday, and hopes to pick up a half dozen more. The 1988 Southwestern Conference champions had only 20 seniors.

"But having quality seniors is the big thing," Yates said. "And next year's group should be pretty good. Our only lack of depth should be at the running back position."

Senior Randy Odom (39 carries, 284 yards) had a good senior year. He, Jeff Kohler and Chris Bartling made the running game fairly effective down the stretch.

"Kohler gained lots of experience last year when Len Whiteside got hurt," Yates said. "But he only got to play three games this year because of the strike and injuries."

There should be plenty of talent to choose from on the line next year with players like Larry Hahne, Joe Thomas, Frank Vivod, Danny Bristol, Brad Massey, Bryan Neidhardt and Shawn Parker coming back. Joe Wallace, Matt Schnefke, Dennis Jolly, Steve Evanoff and Tom Minner provide receivers for quarterback Bobby Thomas, who still has two years.

"Bobby had a good last game at Belleville," Yates said. "If he stays healthy, he can do the job. Joe will be right behind him, but I would prefer having Bobby play so Joe can be a receiver."

Yates is also planning on moving Wallace to tight end some, where he can go deep.

"We haven't had a tight end who can go deep in a while," Yates said. "Most teams cover tight ends with linebackers, and Joe can beat them."

Also back will be players like Mike Mueller and Darryn Yates, who missed the whole season with injuries. They will compete for spots in the offensive backfield with Tim and Terry Noud, and a pair of sophomores from this year, Andy Simpson and Mark Cotter.

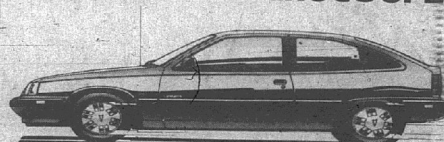

Rich Meinhardt and Gary Tipton are a pair who could be defensive tackles next year as seniors if they drop some weight.

"Nineteen of our 25 seniors next year will have had varsity experience," Yates said. "The key is to stay healthy."

And to avoid a strike.

NOTES: Thomas finished the year with 25 completions in 55 attempts for 382 yards, two touchdowns and 11 interceptions. Wallace caught 11 passes for 200 yards. Bartling had 63 yards on only 12 carries for a 5.3 average. He and Odom scored two touchdowns each to lead the team. Odom led the team in unassisted tackles with 22. Joe Thomas had 21 tackles and 24 assists for 45 total tackles.

Inexperienced Trojans took 2-7 beating

By Mike Blackshere
Correspondent

MADISON — After making the playoffs in 1987, expectations were high for the football Trojans in 1988.

Unfortunately, a lot of the key players on that playoff team were gone this year, and a young Trojan team struggled with a tough schedule to finish 2-7 on the season.

"It (the season) was a real disappointment," Madison coach Don Smith said. "We had opportunities, but we could never take advantage of them. We needed someone on the field to take charge and come up with a big play when we needed it, but no one ever came forward to take over that leadership role."

Although a lot of faces from last year's team were gone, lightning-quick running back Ian Smith was back for his senior season. Many fans thought that Smith could lead the team back to the playoffs all by himself, but nobody can do it alone on the football field.

Every opposing coach told his players that if they could stop Smith, they could stop the Trojans. It wasn't really that simple, but for a number of reasons that philosophy proved to be very effective against Madison.

The Trojans had an anemic passing attack — 21 completions on 72 attempts (29 percent) for 261 total yards with one touchdown and six interceptions — so it was easy for opponents to key on their running game.

The Trojans had a very young offensive line which didn't make life easy for the running backs. Unfortunately, most of the holes the Trojan ballcarriers saw were the ones the defense created on its way into Madison's backfield.

Madison tried to give the ball to other people besides Smith, but they just weren't big-play threats. Craig Ingram and Tony Treadway both got more carries than Smith.

Smith rushed 64 times for 366 yards with six touchdowns. Ingram was effective running straight ahead, rushing 71 times for 347 yards. He didn't score any touchdowns, but he did have Madison's longest run from scrimmage — 47 yards.

Tony Treadway rushed 89 times for 308 yards and three touchdowns. He showed great promise as a sophomore playing his first year of football, but he lacked the experience to follow his blocks and find a hole.

"We expected big things out of Jan, but it didn't happen," said Don Smith. "It is just one of those things you can't do anything about. There were many negative things about this season. We had a lot of discipline problems with our team this year. We had someone out of each game this year with some kind of problem."

Smith was really disappointed with the lack of support from our students and faculty. I know that your fans want you to win and I certainly want to win, but I coach because I like the sport. We could have played better this year, but one of the reasons we didn't win is we had a tough schedule. Four of the teams we played are going to the playoffs (Kresce Central, Columbia, Duplo and Assumption). "The district administration told me that there was some discussions about dropping our vocational classes, which is what I teach. Football is important to me, but my job is more important and that has also been on my mind."

However, the future does look much brighter. There will be a good nucleus of players who started this year coming back next season.

Coming back as juniors will be Calvin Garret, Tony Treadway, Greg Voloski and Frederico Walker. Those players are the main reason the freshman-sophomore team was 3-1 on the season.

Another returning starter who will be back next year as a senior is Demarco Cason. Both Cason and Treadway were playing their first year in organized football.

"This year we had a young team with no experience," Smith said. "We will still have a young team next year, but they will have some varsity experience. I'm looking forward to a better year next year, if I am still around."

ESTHER AND DON WILLIAMS of Granite City try to do everything together as husband and wife. They each produced holes-in-one recently. Esther got hers at the Rock Springs Golf Course, on the 102-yard 7th hole. She used an 8-iron. Don got his ace at the Kimberland Country Club in Jacksonville. He used a 3-wood on the 170-yard 6th hole.

Park Sports Award Banquet is Nov. 10

The 28th annual Granite City Park District Sports Award Banquet will be held Nov. 10 at the Granite City Township Hall.

St. Louis Cardinal general manager Dal Maxvill, a Granite City native, will again attend and Cardinal relief pitcher John Costello is also scheduled to attend. Arrangements are also being made for catcher Tom Pagnozzi to be on hand as well.

The park district will honor all trophy winners in the Little League program, girls softball and the local tennis tournament winners.

Dinner begins at 6:15 p.m. with the program to follow.

Freeburg Christmas tourney needs team

Freeburg High School needs another team for its 16-team boys' basketball tournament Dec. 26-28.

For more information, call athletic director Fred Blumberg at 539-5533.

DAVID BAGGETTE, a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School, is the co-captain of the Rockford (Ill.) College team which received a bid to the NCAA Division III playoffs. Baggette has already been voted team captain for next season. Rockford is 33-2 over the past two seasons and won the Wheaton Invitational this year. Playoff action began this weekend. Baggette attributes most of his success to Warrior coach Gene Baker and the high school program.

ence," said Dailey, in his 10th year at St. Charles. "We have several freshmen who play and a lot of juniors with some seniors mixed in."

Dailey took the Fighting Saints to state four straight years (1983-86) before missing out last year. They return this year thanks to a strong defense which has provided goalie Frank Salerno with 13 shutouts.

"Defense is our strong suit," said Dailey.

Dailey said his best player is midfielder Karsten Goettel. The leading scorers are freshman Rick Goettel and junior Darren Smith with nine goals each.

"We have steadily improved all season," said Dailey. "There wasn't any one game that was a turning point for us."

Dailey said he knew nothing at all about this year's Warrior team.

"I understand they are loaded, even more so than last year," he said. "We have played the eventual champions in our last two trips to state, so that's something to look forward to. The name Granite City itself is enough for us. We have a lot of respect for that program and all they have accomplished."

NOTES: It's the Warriors' 12th trip to state. They went in 1972 (first place), 1973 (third), 1975 (beaten in quarterfinals), 1976-80 (first), 1982 (first), 1983 (beaten in quarterfinals) and 1987 (first). Granite City outshot O'Fallon 14-3 in Tuesday's game, meaning the Warriors have outshot opponents 1-8 in five post-season games. They have a 420-minute shutout streak going. Corner kicks were 4-0 for the Warriors; fouls were 23 for Granite City and 22 for O'Fallon. Eddie L'Hommiedu made nine saves for the Panthers and Scott Swanson made one save. Scott Stone (13 goals, 8 assists) has even more all-state team as selected by the Illinois High School Soccer Coaches Association. He placed second on the all-sectional team behind Collinsville's Joe Reiniger. The top three on the all-sectional are automatic all-state picks. David Boyer of Belleville East was third. John VanBuskirk of the Warriors placed sixth in the all-sectional voting.

good chance all night. In the third quarter, 33-goal scorer Mark Lasley — or Kirk Gibson, if you will — got the ball behind Warrior keeper Scott Swanson. The ball trickled toward the goal post and Lasley just got to it before he ran beyond the post. He bounced the ball off the post and Dustin Hadfield's rebound shot sailed over the goal.

The Warriors' shutout streak — which has now reached 420 minutes — was intact.

"We had a couple of lapses," said Ryan, the senior sweeper. "But we played pretty well overall. It feels good to be going up to state again. This is a little different than last year. Last year's team was one that had played together for a lot of years. This is a new group. And it will be neat going up there with a record like we have."

O'Fallon coach Art Voellinger did his best Tommy Lasorda act in pumping his team up for the big show. They got by the New York Mets — er, the Collinsville Kahoks — but couldn't quite make it over the hump.

"You've got to give Granite City all the credit," he said. "This sort of thing only happens once to a team every year. I don't think anyone but Granite City has done it that far six times in seven years."

I wish we could have scored early. Then we could have backed up and tried to hold them off. But Granite City's dead-ball execution is just lethal. They can give you ulcers with those."

FOOTBALL WEEKEND

Grrrrrrrrr Tigers Wanting Ground Beefalo

By Mark McColl
Journal Staff Writer

Having had their fill of moral victories, the Missouri Tigers will go after the real thing when the Colorado Buffaloes visit Faurot Field for a 1:30 p.m. contest Saturday (KMOX-AM, 1120).

Missouri, 2-5-1, proved last week that it is not going to go down without a fight. Putting forth an effort that Coach Woody Widenhofer said he had been looking for all season, the Tigers came within a big play or two of upsetting Nebraska. Widenhofer will be looking for a similar display this weekend.

"When you have an effort like that, good things are going to happen," he said.

The Tigers were so fanatical on defense in the first half against Nebraska that the Cornhuskers averaged less than 1 yard each time they ran the ball. Nebraska had only 15 total yards in the first half.

Unfortunately, the Tigers could not keep it up in the second half. With the help of two long pass plays and Missouri turnovers, Nebraska pulled out a 28-18 victory. However, Missouri definitely left a favorable impression on Nebraska coach Tom Osborne.

"Missouri played very well," Osborne said Monday. "They probably had the strongest defensive team that we've played against, including UCLA and (Texas) A&M. They're just physically bigger, more powerful people."

Based only on last Saturday's results, Osborne's statements don't seem too far off the wall. But taken in context of the entire season they do—Missouri's defense has given up an average of more than 30 points per game.

But the Tigers made Nebraska work for every inch of real estate. Doing most of the damage to the Cornhuskers was junior strong safety Otis Smith. Blitzing from various positions throughout the game, Smith had four tackles behind the line of scrimmage. He caused one fumble and recovered another. For his efforts, Smith was named Big Eight defensive player of the week.

Widenhofer said Smith's blitzes were not a calculated risk. He said the defensive coaches had detected some flaws in the Nebraska armor, and used the blitz to exploit those.

John Correy Photos

Missouri's quarterback Corey Welch, shown here being banged up a few weeks ago, was husked fairly well by Nebraska last week.

lated risk. He said the defensive coaches had detected some flaws in the Nebraska armor, and used the blitz to exploit those.

A similar tactic would be helpful against the Buffaloes, who are riding high these days. Colorado comes into the game with a 6-2 record, with the two losses coming against Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

Under coach Bill McCartney, who played at Missouri, the Buffaloes have managed to improve steadily over the past several years. In 1987, McCartney's team went 7-4, but the Buffaloes were snubbed by the bowl scouts. That shouldn't happen again this year, according to Widenhofer.

"They've been playing good football," he said. "They manage to do what it takes each week to win. I'm sure they still feel they can still go to a major bowl."

The Buffaloes' forte on offense is rushing the football. McCartney has established the wishbone at Colorado, and that has been the Buffs' primary offensive formation. However, McCartney has added a few wrinkles this season, and the team occasionally runs out of the "I" formation.

Whatever the formation, sophomore running back Eric Bieniemy has been able to break through for yardage. Bieniemy, who rushed for 508 yards as a freshman, already has rushed for more than 1,000 yards in 1988. He is averaging six yards per carry.

Though Bieniemy is the main threat, McCartney has other weapons in his arsenal, such as quarterback Sal Auneis, who has thrown for more than 850 yards.

Defensively, Colorado will be looking to contain Missouri redshirt freshman quarterback Corey Welch. Welch has started the past two games, and appears to be getting more comfortable with the offense.

Despite not playing until essentially the sixth game of the season, Welch has thrown for just less than 400 yards. Welch was banged up against Nebraska, but is expected to play against Colorado.

If Missouri can win its last three games, the Tigers still can finish the season with a 5-6 record.

"It'd be great to win these three," Widenhofer said.

Notable: Missouri has not beaten Colorado during Widenhofer's first three years at Missouri. Last year, the Buffaloes got by Missouri 27-10 in Boulder.

Missouri's last win against the Buffs came in 1984, when the Tigers blew out Colorado 52-7 at Faurot Field.

McCartney, now in his seventh year at Colorado, has compiled a 33-42-1 record.

After Colorado, the Tigers have one home game remaining: Nov. 12 against Oklahoma. Missouri finishes its season Nov. 19 at Kansas.

Illinois Will Run For Roses 1 More Time

By Jim Woodcock
Journal Staff Writer

These Thompsons aren't twins, but they've become a double-decked threat to the University of Illinois' chances of gaining an invitation to a bowl game.

Last Saturday at Minnesota the Illini surrendered 97 yards rushing to Golden Gopher tailback Darrell Thompson, whose 1-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter pulled Minnesota to a 24-24 tie with the Illini. Illinois, which led 24-7 at one point, later needed a 44-yard field goal by sophomore Doug Higgins with one second left to salvage a 27-27 tie.

This week the Illini, winless in their last two games, return to Memorial Stadium to face Indiana (11 a.m., KOK-AM 630). The Illini again will have to stop a Thompson—Indiana junior tailback Anthony Thompson, whose scoring efforts last Saturday were triple what Minnesota's Thompson accomplished against Illinois.

Indiana's eventual 45-34 win at home over Iowa was highlighted by a three-touchdown performance by Thompson, who rushed for 168 yards on 47 carries. Only Oklahoma State's Barry Sanders and Michigan State's Hyland Hicks had better overall days among NCAA Division I rushers.

"We go from one Thompson to the next," said Illinois coach John Mackovic. "They're a little different style, but don't know...you could flip a coin between the two of them. I think they're both truly top backs. Certainly Anthony with 20 touchdowns and 1,200 yards rushing, is someone they count on quite a bit."

Indiana (4-1, 6-1-1) is alone in second place in the Big Ten, one-half game behind league-leading Michigan. Second place is also where the Hoosiers finished last year under coach Bill Mallory, who is the Big Ten's Coach of the Year two seasons running and has successfully introduced football to thousands of basketball-mad Hoosiers since coming aboard in 1984.

The Hoosiers could lose their remaining three games and probably gain a bid to a minor bowl game. A win Saturday over Illinois would make Indiana a lock for post-season play and a definite contender for one of the major bowl games on or around New Year's Day. Consequently, fans in Bloomington are turned on for Saturday's game, which is nearing a sellout.

Bowl games were being bandied about freely in Champaign-Urbana just two weeks ago, but the Illini have gone 0-1-1 in recent play and have lost some of the charm that lured bowl representatives when Illinois was riding a four-game winning streak. A flurry of bowl game officials will be in Champaign on Saturday, so the Illini won't have a better opportunity to regain some lost respect.

And if the Illini (3-1-1, 4-3-1) can win their final three games of the season, Pasadena and the Rose Bowl would remain a remote possibility.

"It's (Indiana) our biggest game of the year," Mackovic said. "We lost to Michigan State when we were 3-0, and then we lost Minnesota when we were 3-1. So at 3-1-1 we realize there's only one opportunity for us to stay in the race. And that is to win this week."

The Illini are tied with Michigan State for third place in the Big Ten, and if each team wins its final three games the Spartans would go to the Rose Bowl by virtue of their 28-21 win two weeks ago over the Illini. Only if Illinois defeats second-place Indiana, first-place Michigan and seventh-place Northwestern—and Michigan State loses between now and the end of the season—will the Illini earn their second trip to the Rose Bowl in the 1990s.

It all seems so unlikely following last Saturday's 27-27 tie with Minnesota, which is still winless in the Big Ten. The draw kept the Illini from maintaining pace with Michigan, Indiana and Michigan State in what has turned into a four-team race for the roses. Indiana remains a serious threat for the Rose Bowl thanks to Thompson, who enters Saturday's game as the nation's No. 2 rushing yardage leader behind Sanders. Thompson's 1,200 yards on 225 carries (4.8 per run) have produced several incredible plays, including:

• Two touchdowns, 129 yards at Missouri.

• Three touchdowns, 153 yards at Northwestern.

• A school-record four touchdowns, 190 yards against Ohio State.

Can he be stopped?

"Really, if we can get him behind the line, that would be great," said Mackovic, tongue only partly in check. "If we don't, we're going to have to swarm toward him as much as possible. He bounces off tackles, breaks tackles, and if you're not over there with your arms around him he can make a seven-yard gain into a 70-yard gain."

On the other hand, Illinois can be somewhat encouraged by the day Iowa quarterback Chuck Hartlieb enjoyed in a losing cause against Indiana last Saturday. Hartlieb passed for a school-record 553 yards, three touchdowns and two conversions while completing 44 of 60 attempts against Hoosier defensive backs.

That understandably makes Indiana—led with Brigham Young No. 20 in AP's national poll—somewhat wary of improving Illinois sophomore quarterback Jeff George, who passed for 343 yards and one touchdown Saturday.

"Illinois has one of the best quarterbacks around in Jeff George," Mallory said. "They have an excellent passing game. We knew he was a talent, him coming from our area (Indianapolis) and having faced him as a freshman with Purdue."

Fighting Illini kicker Doug Higgins looks fairly calm here, but he must have felt a few butterflies before his 44-yard field goal tied Minnesota last week.
